SEASONABLE WEATHER FOR CHRISTMAS

Leaders Have Real Message of Hope At Christmas Season

Upturn in Economic Conditions Noted in Holiday Greetings From Public Men; Difficult Task Still to Be Faced, Says Premier

Substantial optimism pervaded Christmas messages to-day from political and business leaders of the city and province. The general feeling expressed was that the corner toward economic recovery has been definitely turned, and, though there is a hard road ahead, a new and better day is dawning.

"The task ahead will require the sagest advice and most unremitting effort to meet the challenge of modern complexities," said Premier Pattullo.

Lieutenant - Governor Fordham Johnson foresaw a new era of prosperity for British Columbia in expansion of its trade with the Empire and the world.

One and all joined in the heartiest greetings.

Following are texts of the messages:

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR J. W. FORDHAM JOHNSON

"It is with a great deal of pleasure that I again avail myself of the opportunity to convey to the people of British Columbia my most cordial good wishes for the Christmas and New Year seasons.

"Throughout the province, the Dominion and Empire generally, the ravages of the economic depression are still apparent, but I do feel that the reawakened optimism of the past few months can be accepted as a message of hope for the future.

"Confidence and initiative, which mean so much in the expansion of trade, show definite signs of revival, as is evidenced by Dominion and Empire reports and, combined with courage and co-operation should gradually overcome the many obstacles in the channels of world trade.

"British Columbia, possessing mineral and other resources of great value should, presently, realize the benefits accruing from the increasing Empire and world trade activities, and in conveying the old Yuletide greetings to the people of the province I would also like to express the heartfelt wish that all alike may share in the prosperity which must accompany a return to more prosperous times."

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Dec. 24. — Virtual promise of a reduction of at least nine mills in the city tax rate is the city finance committee's Christmas present for Edmonton taxpayers. The present tax rate is sixty-four mills.

Capitalization of relief charges is regarded as one of the schemes which may bring reduction.

PREMIERS SEND OUT MESSAGES

Mr. Bennett and Provincial Cabinet Heads Say 1935 Outlook Brighter

A merrier Christmas than any in several years, topping off 1934's economic improvement with optimism and well-based hope, will be Canada's to-morrow. The Dominion is pleased with the year that is almost gone and confident of 1935, according to Canadian Press dispatches.

From many parts of the country came holiday messages to-day, including statements from provincial premiers who feel this is a Christmas to mark a festive season that climaxes for the year a period of steady upward climbing in business and trade.

There was no note of disappointment to cloud the review, but a unanimous opinion Canada has ample reason to make this a joyous Christmas.

PREMIER BENNETT'S MESSAGE

In Ottawa Prime Minister R. B. Bennett to-day issued the following message through the Canadian Press:

"At this season of the year Canadians are able to look back with satisfaction and thanksgiving on eighteen months of continuous business and economic progress. The notable improvement of conditions within Canada has aroused Canadians to a renewed appreciation of the immensity of their national heritage. The practical experience of the difficult years, which happily are now past, has resulted in a more profound sense of our moral responsibility as a people for the equitable and efficient organization of our human and physical resources.

"Christmas will bring a greater measure of happiness to every Canadian community. We will rejoice in the knowledge that the rest of the world is likewise enjoying a more abundant Christmastide.

"To my fellow Canadians I sincerely wish every possible joy and happiness for the brightest Christmas our country has seen in years."

With a catch of herring under her hatches the Jean Smith was bound for Gloucester, Mass., from Boyos Islands.

Fourteen hundred Christmas hampers were distributed to needy families in the city yesterday by the Gyro Christmas Hamper Fund. Co-operation was given the clubmen on all sides as they worked vigorously to provide the hampers. Edmonton Grad Again Injured

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Dec. 24.—Mabel Munton, member of the famed Edmonton Grads Basketball Team, was one of seven girls and women injured here yesterday when their automobile was struck by a street car. The only one seriously injured was her mother, Mrs. Charles Munton, who suffered a fracture of the pelvis and multiple cuts.

Miss Munton, who escaped with slight head injuries, was badly injured a few months ago when, as she was returning from a Grads' practice, a truck leaped a curb and struck down her and another member of the team.

King To Speak On Empire Broadcast

For the third year in succession the British Broadcasting Corporation will broadcast a special Christmas Day programme from the far corners of the empire, concluding with a message from The King.

The programme will open at 5.54 a.m., Victoria time, with the bells of the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem. These will be followed by bells in India, New Zealand, Canada, Ireland and London.

Next scenes in the lives of typical people will be brought from Australia, Southern Rhodesia, India, New Zealand, South Africa, Canada and the Irish Free State.

The Canadian series will include a fisherman's home in the Maritimes, a Quebec lumber camp, and a sawmill in British Columbia. Later in the broadcast Canada will again be heard, this time from a children's skating party in the Rockies and a hockey match in the east.

When the last of the distant relays is finished, at approximately 7 a.m., Victoria time, The King will deliver his Christmas message from Sandringham.

The broadcast, one of the most ambitious ever attempted, will be heard over CFCT, Victoria; CRCV, Vancouver; KPO, KOMO, KOL, KVI and KSL.

POPE PLEADS AGAINST WAR

Pontiff's Christmas Message Is Prayer For Peace and Goodwill

By ANDRUE BERDING
Associated Press Foreign Staff

Vatican City, Dec. 24.—Pope Pius warned that "the clamor of war spreads ever farther" and urged the world to pray and work for peace in his Christmas address to-day to the Curia of cardinals.

"We see a constant increase in warlike arms," he said. "This is a distracting element in which the spirit seems to have no part. We are on the eve of a day when the heavens resound with the hymns of angels calling for peace on earth.

"Never has a chant had more reason for being than to-day. . . . We wish for peace. We bless peace. But if, in the future, there be some people possessed of a homicidal mania who wish to prepare for war, we shall have another prayer.

Lord Macmillan May Head Arms Inquiry In Great Britain

Reported He Has Been Invited to Preside Over Investigation Soon to Be Held

Canadian Press

London, Dec. 24.—It is understood Baron Macmillan has been invited to become president of the Royal Commission being established to investigate the armaments business in Great Britain.

It was not immediately known whether he has accepted the position.

Lord Macmillan was chairman of the Royal Commission of five persons which in 1933 investigated the banking system in Canada at the request of the Ottawa Government.

Announcement of the formation of a commission to investigate the armaments business in Britain was made last week by Prime Minister MacDonald just before the House of Commons recessed over the Christmas holiday.

Lord Macmillan is widely known in the judicial field and also for his work as head of numerous investigating commissions and committees in Britain. He headed the so-called Macmillan Commission appointed by the British Government in 1929 to inquire into finance and industry.

He is a Lord of Appeal and a member of the House of Lords.

The Royal Commission on banking, of which he was chairman last year, investigated the Canadian banking system exhaustively, traveling from coast to coast.

WHITECHAPEL POOR GUESTS OF THE KING

Canadian Press

London, Dec. 24.—King George observed what has become an annual custom when 700 of the poorest men and women in the Whitechapel district were his guests at a Christmas tea-party in Whitechapel Sunday. The King inaugurated the custom when he was still Prince of Wales and has continued it every year since.

All Revolvers To Be Registered In 1935

Department of Justice Calls Attention to New Law to Be Enforced Throughout Canada

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—A fine not more than $50 or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or both, will be the penalty exacted from those luckless persons caught with unregistered revolvers or pistols on and after January 1 next.

Proclamation of an amendment to the Criminal Code which fixes these penalties, sets the date when registration will become compulsory as New Year's Day.

In a statement from the Department of Justice it is set forth that registration of pistols or revolvers is in no wise authority for persons to carry these weapons on their persons. Where permits are required by the owners of pistols and revolvers these must be obtained in addition to the registration required.

METHOD OF REGISTRATION

Registration of pistols and revolvers will be performed in Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, New Brunswick,

BETTY GOW, ON VOYAGE, IS GUARDED

Associated Press

Greenock, Scotland, Dec. 24.—A relative of Betty Gow, who was nurse of the slain Lindbergh baby, said to-day she was en route to the United States under close guard because, "to be quite frank, we fear something may happen to her." She is going to testify in the case against Bruno Hauptmann.

This relative, who would not allow his name to be used, said she was on the liner Aquitania, due to arrive in New York to-day.

FIFTY-SEVEN ON TRIAL SOON

Many Already in Montreal; Police Watch Others in Maritimes

Canadian Press

Montreal, Dec. 24.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police to-day had under close observation in the three Maritime Provinces thirteen of the eighteen persons who failed to surrender voluntarily under a blanket warrant charging them with conspiracy to defraud the Dominion and Quebec governments of $5,000,000 through illicit movement of alcohol.

The men, Montreal headquarters stated, had had the warrant served on them since the deadline for voluntary appearance ended Saturday, and would be brought to Montreal for arraignment immediately after Christmas.

They are in Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Yesterday a constable from the Montreal division left for Prince Edward Island. Another constable was to join him at Rimouski, Que., and the two would pick up those from the island province and return via Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, to secure suspects there.

BIG LIST

As a result fifty-seven persons are expected shortly to appear for trial before the Court of King's Bench here. In legal circles it was stated a preferred indictment would be prepared by the attorney-general of Quebec so that preliminary hearing would be waived, the case going directly from arraignment court to Court of King's Bench.

London, Dec. 24.—Facing a charge of smuggling into Canada alcoholic liquors to the value of $5,000,000, William Alexander Yule of Halifax, N.S., appeared in Bow Street police court to-day and agreed to waive all formalities and return to Canada to meet the charge as soon as possible.

On the understanding Yule would voluntarily return to the Dominion without delay, he was remanded after pleading not guilty to the charge.

Yule, described as a "general commission agent," formerly of Montreal, but now of Halifax, was arrested at Southampton on Saturday on a provisional warrant issued on behalf of the Canadian authorities under the Fugitive Offenders Act.

Yule was one of the sixty-one persons named in a blanket warrant charging conspiracy to defraud the Dominion and Quebec governments of $5,000,000 through the illicit movement of alcohol.

The two Imperial Airways planes carrying the mails brought a load of 1¾ tons, of which half a ton was from Australia, and included a special blue bag containing Christmas greetings and presents from the Duke of Gloucester, third son of the King and Queen, to members of the royal family.

BALANCING BUDGET

Vienna, Dec. 24 (Canadian Press from Havas)—By strict economy, and without tax increases or salary reductions, Austria has almost balanced its budget, Finance Minister Dr. Karl Buresch announced to-day.

FINE WEATHER IS EXPECTED

Christmas Day Will Probably Dawn Clear and Cold, With Sunshine Following

Victorians may look forward to fine, colder weather for Christmas, with no prospects of snow, except what fell on the Sooke Hills during the night. This was the message forecast at the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill this morning.

To-morrow will probably be a day of sunshine, with just enough hint of frost in the air to suitably mark the holiday.

A strong gale blew over the city during the night, and at 2 o'clock this morning there was a heavy downpour of rain which awakened many people. The greatest wind velocity was between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning, when it blew at the rate of fifty miles an hour. The sea off Victoria was whipped into whitecaps and ships docking at Victoria had rather a difficult time.

The rainfall for December is already above the average, F. Napier Denison, superintendent at the Gonzales Observatory, said this morning. The yearly precipitation will also be above average, he said.

Meanwhile there is below zero in the interior portions of the province, in Alaska and the Yukon and at prairie points. At Prince George this morning it was 10 below zero, Dawson had it 48 below and Atlin 28 below. Prince Rupert was only 18 above. It was 20 below in Edmonton and 26 below in Prince Albert. Heavy rains were general throughout the State of Oregon and in northern California.

NEW PEERAGE

London, Dec. 24 (Associated Press).—The London Daily Mirror said to-day the Aga Khan, sportsman and spiritual head of millions of Mohammedans, will be raised to the peerage in the King's New Year's honor list.

Santa Claus Finds Suitable Conditions in Great Area Between Lakes and Rocky Mountains

No Golf This Time at Calgary

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Dec. 24. — Santa Claus is going to have nippy weather for his quick visit to Canada's prairie cities and hamlets to-night.

Alberta and Saskatchewan shivered, with blizzards in some parts, and Manitoba had zero weather with a light snow falling.

A high wind whipped snow in blizzard style in southern Saskatchewan, with the mercury down [illegible] north it was around eighteen to twenty-three below, with Saskatoon reporting eighteen below.

NO GOLF AT CALGARY

Calgary — where Christmas Day golf is often celebrated—had twenty below. Edmonton reported twenty-four below. Storms preceded the drop in temperatures.

Winnipeg's weather was ideal for Christmas shopping, just a few points above the zero mark. It was fifteen below yesterday. At Portage la Prairie, Brandon and other Manitoba points sub-zero temperatures were reported.

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Dec. 24.—A very seasonable touch to the landscape, snow, which fell over Greater Vancouver Sunday evening was fast disappearing to-day before a brilliant sun and fresh westerly wind. Starting in the early evening, flakes fell to a depth of about three inches in the easterly section of the city, while in the westerly portion much of it melted as soon as it fell.

Despite the bright sky, the official forecast is "unsettled, with occasional rain or sleet."

Work All Night Loading Hampers

Gyro Club Began Distribution Early Yesterday Morning and Placed 1,337 Hampers Before Noon; Much Gratitude Expressed

At 7.30 o'clock yesterday morning the first truck left on its delivery rounds with Gyro Christmast hampers. At 10.30 o'clock 1,337 hampers had been distributed to homes throughout the city. This morning the Gyros still had 100 odd cases of food on their hands for last minute deliveries.

Saturday night was a hectic night in the packing department at the corner of Yates and Vancouver Streets. Thirty-five members of the Gyro Club started working early in the evening on the final packing of perishable goods and the loading. They knocked off work at 4 a.m. Sunday, and were back again at 7.30 a.m. Ten members worked all night and morning without sleep. The girls in the delivery department left for home somewhere around 4.30 a.m.

Ed Whyte, manager of the packing department, who has been the brains behind the great work of packing and delivering Christmas cheer, calculates that in two days he had exactly thirty minutes sleep. Mr. Whyte this morning looked himself again after a full night's rest. He expressed himself as very pleased with the work of his department, which went off with practically no hitches.

The Gyros were aided in their work of delivering hampers by thirty of the largest scouts in the city. Each truck went out on its rounds with a driver, one Gyro and two scouts on board.

FIVE ARE HELD AFTER BURGLARY

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Dec. 24.—Five men have been arrested for investigation and a quantity of stolen goods has been recovered by police, who followed tracks in the snow from the scene of a burglary.

W. Hutchinson reported his home had been burglarized. Officers discovered tracks in the newly fallen snow and followed them to a house some distance away, where they found seven persons and some property which they stated had been taken from the Hutchinson home. Five of the persons were booked for investigation.

ALL LEAVES ENDED IN GERMAN ARMY

Fears of Revolt in Nazi Storm Troops Are Reported to Exist

Canadian Press from Havas

Berlin, Dec. 24.—Fears of a new revolt in the ranks of the storm troops or a clash between the Reichswehr and the Hitler special blackshirt guards (Schutz-Staffel) were seen to-day as motivating cancellation of Christmas leaves in the German army. This step came on the heels of a wave of widespread arrests.

Despite the declaration by Premier Hermann Wilhelm Goering that "there will not be another June 30" it has been apparent for some time that the storm troops are not yet satisfied that "the National Socialist revolution" is at an end.

Furthermore, the storm troops, who were drastically "purged" by Chancellor Adolf Hitler on June 30 last, were said to be far from reconciled with a "back seat" assigned to them since the Reichswehr became, according to Hitler's own declaration, the only military pillar of the Third Reich.

NEWS about Easy Riding

You're riding in a BALANCED car—longer, gentler springs, set at a "heel and toe" angle to cushion out road shocks—improved oil-cushioned shock absorbers that smooth ANY road—easier steering than you've ever known before—and the 1935 Axleflex independent springing with new rear stabilizer available at slight extra cost.

NEWS about Bodies

First COMPLETE steel bodies ever built—stronger, safer. You ride over a floor of steel—and this year, THE ROOF, TOO, IS SOLID STEEL. You sink into deep, wide seats—room for three of you, front or back. More leg room. Hudson year-round ventilation . . . fully adjustable windshield. Newest upholstery fabrics—something new in fittings, too. Built-in Hudson radio available in all models at reasonable extra cost.

NEWS about Economy

Without changing the basic design of Hudson motors, Hudson engineers have turned more gasoline energy into WORK, and less into HEAT. With one stroke, they have produced more power and better performance for every gallon of fuel consumed. Less gasoline does more work.

So it is with oil economy. Changes in the "layout" of piston rings have cut Hudson's already low oil consumption squarely in half. And at the same time, these refinements prevent the carbonization of rings, and prolong their life.

Many other Hudson features—new and old—contribute to the amazingly low upkeep cost of these cars. High ratio of power to weight. All-round durability in frame, chassis and body. Harder, more expensive metals in the motor. Exclusive clutch design. Better lubrication.

DRIVE, COMPARE THEN DECIDE

IT IS no easy matter to choose THE motor car—the one YOU expect to own and drive. All cars look capable on the showroom floors . . . even their catalogues seem a lot alike! But, after all, a motor car is something to DRIVE . . . something to RIDE in, isn't it? THERE'S the real test . . . and that's the reason for our invitation:

Try ALL the cars in your price field. DRIVE them, ride them, back seat and front. THEN decide.

We extend this invitation out of a wealth of experience. It is the way that five out of every eight Hudson and Terraplane buyers have made their selections—by driving the others . . . driving a Hudson or a Terraplane . . . and then making their decision. It's a sound way to buy. YOU be the judge!

HAPPINESS IN FEEDING BIRDS

Septuagenarian Carries Much Bread to Feathered Visitors in Winnipeg Park

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Dec. 24.—John A. Huein is Winnipeg's bird man. During the four years he has resided here he has walked approximately 3,800 miles to carry bread crumbs to feathered friends that frequent Notre Dame Park in the west end of the city.

Three times a day during the summer months the seventy-one-year-old veteran makes his way to a sheltered corner of the park where his approach is heralded by flapping wings. Residents in the vicinity set their clocks by the passing of the familiar figure.

The distance from his home to the park is roughly half a mile. Two visits daily are made during the cold winter months. Devotion to his winged vagrants started many years ago in Elmira, Ont., where he was born, and as far as his friends know he has never missed a day.

The simple explanation of the old gentleman for his daily ritual is: "The excursions into Nature keep me young; the exercise keeps me healthy, and watching the little fellows eat affords me the greatest of entertainment."

Exports From Canada Expand

Increase of 30.6 Per Cent to British Empire; United Kingdom Best Customer

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—An increase of 30.6 per cent, or more than $56,000,000, was shown in exports to British Empire countries during the eight months ended November 30, when they totaled $242,235,000 as compared with $185,476,000 in the corresponding period last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

The United Kingdom was the best customer with $196,236,000, against $153,152,000 in the same period of 1933, while Australia was next with $11,702,000 in comparison with $37,446,000.

Exports to foreign countries during the eight-month period ended November 30 totaled $207,670,000, an increase of 3.4 per cent, or nearly $7,000,000, as compared with $200,807,000 in the same period last year, the report states. The United States was the best customer witn $140,389,000, in comparison with $123,946,000 in the corresponding months last year.

Prairie Farmess Now Exporting Barley

Growers Find New Market As Result of Liquor Manufacture in United States

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Dec. 24.—End of prohibition in the United States has brought a measure of prosperity to Manitoba farmers and to many in northern areas of Saskatchewan and Alberta, and resulted in a paradox previously almost unknown in the grain trade. Barley to-day is worth more than Canada's finest wheat.

Two years ago barley was cheaper than fuel. It was used as such in countless farm homes of the prairies. Farmers, too poor to buy coal or wood, fed their almost worthless barley into stoves to heat their homes. For all the farmers received, it was not worth hauling it to elevators.

The picture has changed. Barley prices have risen and farmers are relying on it more than on wheat to pull them out of the depression. Thirsty United States citizens have created a demand for barley, and Canada in the five months of the current crop season has exported more than in the entire crop year of 1932-33.

PRICES COMPARED

On December 22, 1932, the best feed barley, 3 c.w., brought only 13 cents a bushel net to the farmer, based on an average freight rate of 10 cents a bushel. Six-row barley the best malting grade, netted him only 16½ cents. These prices were less than the cost of production.

Seed barley sold over the week-end at 41½ cents a bushel and the malting variety at 61 cents. The price of No. 1 northern wheat, second only to No. 1 hard wheat in quality, was 58½ cents, based on an average freight rate for wheat of 13.2 cents a bushel.

Due to drought, the United States had not enough barley for its needs and was forced to import from Canada. In the 1932-33 crop year Canada's total exports of barley were 5,391,000 bushels. So far this season more than 6,000,000 bushels have been shipped to the United States alone.

USED FOR BEER

With barley an indispensable ingredient in the manufacture of beer, the rise in prices is attributed directly to the end of prohibition in the United States. Manitoba farmers have been the chief beneficiaries of the higher values, most of Canada's barley being raised in this province.

The price of "screenings," sweepings of all grains mixed together and left over in the grain elevators, also has advanced. Two years ago elevators gave screenings away for the way roundhouse at Fort William was heated by screenings. To-day they were worth $'3 a ton.

Ministers Return Home; Premier Spends Holiday in New Brunswick

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—Christmas-tide drew a curtain across all political and most governmental activities in the capital Saturday and although departments were open for business as usual to-day a majority of the ministers were absent.

More than half the members of the cabinet are out of Ottawa, including Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, who left yesterday for Sackville, N.B., where he will spend the holiday with his brother, Captain Ronald Bennett. It is expected his sister and her husband, Hon. W. D. Herridge, Canadian Minister to the United States, and their young son, will also join the family party at Sackville.

The Prime Minister will probably spend New Year's Day in Ottawa.

PREPARING FOR SESSION

Departmental heads have been busy for several weeks preparing for the session of Parliament and the estimates are well advanced.

Two sets are being prepared, one showing the 10 per cent civil service salary reduction continued and the other with salaries restored. The state of the revenues will dictate which will be presented to Parliament.

Most outstanding of legislation known to be under consideration are the Unemployment Insurance Bill and the legislation to be prepared in the light of abuses in business and industry as revealed in evidence before the mass buying commission.

SERVICE

There are presently in force special holiday excursion fares, and special low rates for telegrams and cables.

In extending to its patrons and friends the greetings of the season, the C.N.R. is glad to record a year of improvement over that immediately preceding, and to express its anticipation that the coming year will maintain this upswing in business. All Canada is, of course, interested in the welfare of its railroads—improved conditions for them means improved conditions generally.

But the realization of our hopes depends upon the patronage which the public gives us.

At this season of goodwill, it may be appropriate to suggest that those who are in a position to do so can confer a boon on their fellow-citizens by ridding themselves of hampering and groundless fears and by adopting instead an attitude of confidence and co-operation. Let them not be afraid to spend according to their means. In a very real sense every Canadian who consumes, wears or uses anything—and that means everybody—is an employer of labor. Increased use of commodities and services will provide increased employment, and increased employment is the answer to Canada's need to-day. 1935 will be a happy year if each one does his part to provide more work.

The C.N.R. seeks the goodwill of all Canadians. It looks for, and will strive to merit a greater measure of patronage, a fuller opportunity to be of service. The expenditure of just a few more dollars per head of population, during the coming year, on the services the Company provides, will not only be of prime importance to the C.N.R., but will also be of benefit to all workmen and merchants in Canada—it will help to consolidate gains which have been made, and will strengthen the impetus toward better times—it will bring an added degree of prosperity and renewed hope to the people of the Dominion.

And it will be a worthwhile expenditure because of what the C.N.R. gives — speedy and reliable transportation, courteous and efficient service, reasonable rates and fares all the year round, and special low rates and fares on many occasions, such, for example, as the present holiday time.

Let us, then, have a Merry Christmastide and a Happy New Year.

CHRISTMAS

ONLY A FEW YEARS AGO ON CHRISTmas Eve we were priding ourselves on the fact that times were good, that we found ourselves more than a decade away from the greatest, most futile, most costly human conflagration in history. Not all the wounds, physical or economic, as a result of that frightful calamity had been healed; but sober thought in the meantime had given mankind a new perspective. The prospect of the Brotherhood of Man almost looked like realization.

On this Christmas Eve the old wounds are being irritated. Just at the time the world is celebrating the birth of the Prince of Peace there is much talk of war. Money which would feed hungry millions is being spent on the instruments of destruction; profits are going into the pockets of the "merchants of death" in a greater measure than they were going in 1914—yet the war which was to end war has been fought since then.

Perhaps this is a somewhat melancholy reflection; but the facts have to be faced. On the other hand, we may consider the brighter side and hope that because there is so much talk of war, the danger of it breaking out is less than it was in 1914, when, only a week or so before the tragic Sarajevo affair, statesmen were affirming in the most definite terms that not in many years had the nations of the world been more friendly toward one another.

We have the League of Nations, striving to promote peace on earth and preserve goodwill among men. It has done much in the comparatively short period [illegible] in its operations. It can not perform miracles. But it may be reasonably proud of the fact that the influence it has used in international disputes in many instances has prevented war. There are those who scoff at the League. Do they not realize that when they do so they are scoffing at the Nazarine? Only fools, of course, scoff at this first experiment to unite the peoples of the world in common friendship. They know not what they do.

We, as Canadians, are particularly fortunate in many ways. Although modern science has contracted the world very substantially, we are removed from the atmosphere of international discord. We still have serious economic difficulties to surmount. But we are beginning to feel that the trials and tribulations of the last five years are slowly passing into the background, that our national consciousness, our national spirit, our staunch Canadianism, resting on a firm foundation, will see us through to better times—assist us to a more reasonable understanding of real values so that we shall not repeat the errors of the past.

We have everything in our favor if we will only toe the line. On the south of us there are 130,000,000 people with whom we are on the friendliest of terms. We may look with the utmost satisfaction upon our position among the nations of the world. We may be especially gratified with the role we are playing as a self-governing member of the Britannic Commonwealth of Nations. Our citizens want to live in peace; they want to contribute in the fullest measure toward the establishment of goodwill among men—which is particularly associated with Christmas.

BRITISH COLUMBIA CAN AFFORD STATE HEALTH INSURANCE

THERE ARE SOME WHO ARE SAYING that British Columbia "in times like these" can not afford a system of State Health Insurance—although they are quite convinced that such a system is necessary.

If those who are in doubt about the question will take the time and trouble to study a few government reports and, incidentally, a set of informative statistics furnished by the United States Committee on the Costs of Medical Care, they probably will change their minds and come to the conclusion that even "in times like these" British Columbia can afford a system of State Health Insurance.

It is not necessary to be an actuary or a statistician or a financial expert to get at the facts and the cost of the scheme which Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, has in mind and which we assume he will submit to the Legislature at its next session. First of all it should be understood that while the reports of the Committee on the Costs of Medical Care show that all health work in the neighboring republic cost about thirty dollars per person in 1929, there is good reason to believe that the cost per person in British Columbia in the present year was about forty per cent less, or approximately eighteen dollars per person. Our total cost this year—estimating from the United States institution and from partial provincial figures—was probably accounted for as follows:

Doctors	$ 2,500,000
Dentists	1,250,000
Hospitals (except mental)	3,500,000
Medicines	2,750,000
Other	2,500,000
Total	$12,500,000

To go on further and calculate the total costs of bad health in British Columbia we should add the cost of mental hospitals, about $1,100,000 according to the provincial estimates; the cost of the one-third of all deaths that are preventable, some $21,000,000 if we scale down the Committee on the Costs of Medical Care estimates by forty per cent; and the cost of illness in wage loss to workers, some $2,000,000 at an average wage loss of fifteen dollars per week. The four items add up to more than $35,000,000—British Columbia's total annual bill at present for bad health, in direct and indirect costs, which the people of the province are actually paying.

And yet at the same time great numbers of the poorer people are receiving quite inadequate and unsatisfactory care. This is a major reason which explains why British Columbia has so many preventable deaths and so much time loss from work on account of sickness, with the huge hidden costs that these items bring.

How much of the annual medical costs bill of $12,500,000 do British Columbia's provincial and municipal governments pay? The province, this year, according to the estimates for 1934-35, and the public accounts for 1932-33, must be paying about as follows:

Hospitals and physicians	$ 812,000
Board of Health	121,000
Relief medical service (roughly)	150,000
Tranquille Sanatorium	175,000
Total	$1,258,000

The municipalities must be spending at least as much on health work. Thus our governments are now paying, together, about $2,500,000—exclusive of $1,000,000 or more they spend jointly on mental hospitals.

The question then is: What would a system of State Health Insurance cost British Columbia? Let us assume a scheme that would provide complete medical service—doctors, dentists, hospitals, nurses, etc.—that would provide cash benefits of ten dollars a week on the average; one that would cover all wage earners in industries apart from agriculture, including the unemployed, with their dependents, about 500,000 in number. Let us suppose further that out of the funds collected we provide an average payment of $3,000 per year for the 600 odd doctors in the province, $2,000 for some 300 dentists and about sixty per cent of their present receipts for the other branches of health service with an allowance of $500,000 for administration costs.

Then the costs of medical care of the insured population probably would work out roughly as follows:

Doctors	$1,800,000
Dentists	600,000
Hospitals (except mental)	2,100,000
Medicines	1,500,000
Other	1,500,000
Administration	500,000
Total	$8,000,000

This would provide for complete medical care at an average price of sixteen dollars per insured person. In view of the fact that the Committee on the Costs of Medical Care estimated that complete medical service could be provided in the United States in 1929 at around thirty dollars per year, our figure would not seem unreasonable for British Columbia to-day—with depression prices and incomes in effect.

It may be supposed further that the province and the municipalities together contribute $2,000,000 to provide care for the unemployed and their dependents who number perhaps twenty-five per cent of the total group of 500,000. This would leave a sum of $6,000,000 to be raised from contributions by employers and employed wage-earners. And it would involve a yearly contribution of about thirty-six dollars for each of the employed workers, some 165,000 in number. If the employer and worker each contributed half, this would mean a weekly contribution of seventy-five cents each.

Assuming that the total charge of $1.50 per week were increased by forty cents or by ten dollars per year, this would provide an additional fund yearly of $1,500,000 that would make possible a cash benefit of ten dollars per week on the average for every worker compelled to give up work on account of sickness. Thus a complete scheme to provide medical service under all heads and cash benefits would cost about $9,500,000 per year.

The province and the municipalities need pay no more for health work than they do at present. And who is there to say that a charge of forty-six dollars per year equally divided between workers and employers is impossible for them to stand even under present circumstances in view of the great gains of adequate medical service and economic security which the plan would bring to wage-earners and their families?

Everybody concerned, it seems to us, would be better off under this system. The doctors, dentists, hospitals and nurses would be assured of regular incomes from the insurance fund and they would have the proceeds of private practice with many of the most prosperous members of the population. Public health would be protected by adequate medical care for those who are not getting it at present and the hidden costs of preventable death and absence from work on account of illness should be reduced. And what probably will be most amazing of all to some doubting spirits is the slender likelihood that existing governmental expenditures on health work would increase at all.

All of this may be rough and ready figuring; but a little exercise with pencil and paper convinces us at least that State Health Insurance is not merely good social policy but also good business.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

CORRECT

La Presse, Montreal

Will Mr. Dufresne, Director of Police in Montreal, succeed by the measures which he proposes to adopt in convincing pedestrians of the necessity of obeying traffic lights placed at the principal intersections of the city and of not crossing the streets at any old place? It is a question, if we understand it rightly, of educating the public, and of taking time and patience to persuade it. The example of the City of London, where the police authorities have made a similar experiment without obtaining satisfactory results, should not discourage us: there is a chance that it may be crowned with success here, it being well understood that the mentality of our population is not entirely similar to that of the Londoners.

Loose Ends

And so the old festival comes around again—and makes us think of other times and other places—that seemed better than these modern days.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

HERE AGAIN

SO WE come to Christmas Eve again. The eve of the great Christian festival which marks the first day of our era. Christmas Eve in a Christian world which, in 1,934 years, has traveled a considerable distance from the manger in Bethlehem. Nineteen hundred and thirty-four years ago came a Prophet who proclaimed peace and goodwill among men, and to-day His devoted followers in all parts of the world are busy getting ready for mass murder, are robbing their neighbors, crushing the weak and generally dmonstrating thir Christianity in a fashion which its Founder probably did not foresee.

Yes, historians will write with some cynicism and amusement about this period when the birth of Christ will generally be observed by pleasant fleshly indulgences and more ill will than the world has known in a thousand years. Historians will see only these obvious facts. They will never appreciate, because the memory of it will be lost, the extraordinary outburst of quiet kindliness, the nameless and unknown acts of charity, the real welling up of human decency which occurs at this season and shows that while we are undoubtedly mad as a civilization there is still a spark of better nature in us as individual people.

ANOTHER CHRISTMAS

I AM thinking to-night of Christmas away from civilization, in remote places where the old simplicity of the festival still remains, where th mad rush of the world has not yet penetrated. I am thinking of Christmas on the great plateau of Grandpa O'Shea, where the stars will glisten to-night on the even white snow and the breath of the horses on the range will steam up, white, into the darkness, and the sheep will huddle close together in their sheds, as they must have huddled in that other stable long ago.

A great fire of crackling pine from [illegible] will [illegible] the lights stone fireplace to-night. In the corner will be a giant Christmas tree that the young O'Sheas, the fourth generation of them, will have cut in the woods above the upper field and dragged home over the snow. The first Christmas tree stood in that corner eighty years ago when this one room, built of newly-hewn logs, was the entire house on the plateau and Grandpa O'Shea was a young man.

And they will stand about the piano in the light of the fire and sing the old Christmas carols as they have sung them on Christmas Eve since those first days, and presently the Indians from the village at the bottom of the hill will ride up on their cayuses, swinging their arms to keep warm, and will steal shyly into the big kitchen for their Christmas treat. To each of them will be given a present, and to every little brown-skinped child a big bag of candy and oranges and mince tarts that have been prepared days in advance. They will listen to the carol singing with wide, wondering eyes, saying nothing, and presently they will ride away again down the hill, three and four children to a pony, laughing and giggling.

THE OLD WAY

AND when the fourth generation of O'Shea's have gone to bed, the three great stockings that they have hung on the mantelshelf will mysteriously acquire a bulging load of toys and candy and fruit and nuts, presents will be hung on the Christmas tree and the grown-up O'Sheas will go to bed properly worn out.

To-morrow the guests will come from miles around, in cars, in sleighs, on horseback, and there will be two gigantic turkeys at the head of the long table where Grandpa O'Shea used to start carving before he was quite finished saying grace. And the lean, hard inhabitants of the plateau will make away with unbelievable helpings of everything until little is left of the two turkeys—just enough so that, when they are tired of dancing in the living-room, they may sneak out to the vast pantry at midnight and refresh themselves in the good old way.

IN THE BIG WOODS

THEY will be making ready for Christmas, too, in the old log house that David Forsyth built in our island forest fifty years ago. To-morrow all the old-timers will arrive for dinner, as they have done for half a century—the aged doctor and his wife who stopped here to fish in the lake on their way home to England from India in 1891 and have stayed ever since; the lonely bachelor from the North Arm of the Lake who lives with his dog, six chickens and three hives of bees and, as everybody knows, is harmlessly mad; the aged German professor who was thought to be a dangerous spy during the war because he used to look up and down the lake with a telescope; the impoverished author and his wife who live on a houseboat no bigger than a dog kennel and are said to eat nothing between one Christmas dinner at Forysth's and another, and old Henry Buscombe from up the crik who shoots cougars for a living, who will wear his single white, stiff collar for the occasion without a tie, because he has none, and who will be loaned a pair of carpet slippers because his calked shoes would spoil the floor.

They will dine to-morrow on a monstrous turkey that has been hand-fed by old Mrs. Forsyth and coddled like a favorite child since last spring. They will wash it down with some of Mrs. Forsyth's home-made wine and old Buscombe, after the fifth glass, will dance a sailors' hornpipe and imitate a one-armed Frenchman reciting "The Charge of the Light Brigade." And as the guests prepare to go home it will be discovered, as it always is, that the lake is too rough for their boats and the trail too dark to be followed, and everybody will stay the night, sleeping all over the house, and eating cold turkey for breakfast.

BACK EAST

AND it will be Christmas Eve to-night in that old stone house on the bank of the St. Lawrence where we used to hang our stockings from the mantelshelf long ago. [illegible] hanging theirs from the same place Perhaps a Christmas tree stands again in the corner of the parlor which was sacred to grown-ups most of the year, but was opened to us at Christmas.

One remembers the bustle of preparation in the old Ontario kitchen, where a company of Canadian soldiers were fed during the War of 1812. Such trussing of turkeys and geese! Such stirrings of plum pudding, and mixings of mincemeat! And, oh, the pleasant aroma of honest liquor which was used to impart that last fine touch of flavor!

Such comings and goings of relatives from up and down the river, in jingling cutters; the uncles in top hats, the aunts in billowing skirts and odd hats on the top of their heads! Such mysterious trips across the river ice to the town on the American side where the price of toys was much lower than on our side!

Ah, do maiden aunts still walk across the river ice down below the town to avoid the customs men, with parcels concealed under their skirts in specially-made receptacles, until they can hardly walk? Do they still go over thin and come back fat, and hide their parcels up in the attic?

And do the youngsters come out on Christmas morning and try their first sleighs and skates on the icy sidewalks? And does Santa Claus in person, with a voice extraordinarily like old Jim Trotter, the grocer, still appear at the Sunday school Christmas tree and distribute presents to everybody?

I suppose not. I suppose Christmas has changed there, too, that civilization has overcome it. But never mind, the young have never known these better days. Christmas as it is will seem all right to them. After a while they will look back on these times as bright with a miraculous glow, and they will say to themselves that things were different and better in the old days. It is a wise provision of nature that, to the young, it is always a Merry Christmas.

SHADOWS

Every shadow ever shows
Something of the sun.
As, how long ago it rose,
Or how far it has run.
Even faulty human sense
This glad truth divines:
Shadows are but evidence
Light behind them shines!

Night is just a shadow cast
As the swift Earth turns
From the glory, golden vast,
Where the white sun burns.
Only for a little time
Fall the veils of night,
The earth swings to the sublime,
Never-failing light!

The fact that the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company will commence the work of erecting their docks at the foot of Courtney Street almost immediately, has had the effect of stimulating an interest in property values in that vicinity, and there have been a number of deals in consequence.

In common with the traditions of the race, care will be taken to see that everyone in the city is given special treats to-morrow. The Friendly Help Society has taken steps [illegible] to provide extras for this day of general jubilation, and are seeing that something is done to make the Christmas as happy as possible for them.

THE MASSACHUSETTS REFERENDUM

To the Editor: — Last summer I wrote in one of the local papers that Russia might enter the League of Nations, and possibly the United States also, the latter obviously via the Pacific.

Prophecies now come from Washington that America will enter the League through Tokio. There are several matters pending with Japan, some of which could be better handled if the United States were a member of the League, all of momentous importance to both that country and Canada. There are those who believe that Japan intends to dominate the Pacific. If so, however powerful a fleet she may build up, it would probably prove useless against the world.

In this connection the recent election in Massachusetts is of interest, for at that time the following referendum was submitted to the voters: "Shall the representatives of the general court be instructed to vote to request the President and the United States Senate to enter into full co-operation and membership in the League of Nations with such reservations as they may deem wise?" The results show that 111 towns voted "Yes," and four voted "No," with 135,079 "Yes" and 81,857 "No."

Assuming that the total vote cast was around 1,000,000, it appears that only a small proportion registered an opinion, and of those who did not, it may be claimed that the majority would have voted "No." On the other hand, if the vote were taken to-day the number in the "Yes" column would doubtless be much greater, owing to the success of the recent assembly. To draw a valid conclusion from these figures the record of a few years back in the same state would seem to be required.

While we must bear in mind that Massachusetts is not the Mississippi Valley, yet the result would indicate the desirability of a poll of the whole country on this question in the near future. The straw votes of The Literary Digest have in the past proved surprisingly accurate barometers of public opinion, as confirmed by legal ballot following, and it is to be hoped that the management of that magazine will see the way soon to give us further light on the trend of public opinion regarding the League of Nations in the United States.

"ANTI-SEMITISM"

To the Editor:—Not Mirabeau in the French Convention, nor Patrick Henry in the House of Burgesses, nor "Sam" Adams in the old colonial days ever said a more thrilling thing than Disraeli said in the British House of Commons in reply to the charge that he was a Jew. "Yes, I am a Jew! When the ancestors of the honorable gentleman were brutal savages in an unknown island, mine were priests in the temple!"

Do you want an aristocracy of talent? The world's roll of great soldiers, authors, musicians, painters poets, philosophers and financiers contain more Hebrew names than I could recite in many hours.

It is a spurious false Christianity that hates Jews. The mystery of the incarnation found expression in the flesh and blood of a Jew. We get our ten commandments—the very foundation of our civilization—through the Jews. We sing Jewish psalms, are uplifted by the passion and poetry of Jewish prophets, and rely on Jewish biographies for the only history we have of Christ. We get our Pauline theology from a Jew, and we catch our clearest glimpses of the next world through the sublime apocalyptic vision of a Jew. Then, forsooth, we Christians turn about and sneer at Jews! Yet it was a Jew who made England's Victoria Empress of India.

I have heard musicians denounce Jews and then spend days and nights trying to interpret the beauties of Rossini, Meyerbeer and Mendelssohn—all Jews

Can you suppress the Jews? A score of Russian czars could not do it. Every people on earth have tried it and failed. They have outlived the Tudors and Plantagenets, the Romanoffs, the tyranny of Spain, the dynasties of France, Charlemagne, Constantine, the Caesars, the Babylonian kings and the Egyptian Pharaohs. It was God's own race for 2,000 years and the awful persecution it has survived for 2,000 more stamps it as a race still bearing some mysterious relation to the plans of the eternal. The beauty and fidelity of the Jewish women command our homage, and among wealthy and educated Jews the exquisite refinement of Jewesses, their culture and high breeding blending with a sort of Oriental grace and dignity, put them among the most charming women of the world.

The belief that the Jew is more dishonest than the Gentile is one-half nonsense and the other half prejudice and falsehood. The anti-Jewish feeling which now seems to be rising again is unchristian, inhuman and un-British. No man can share it who believes in the universal fatherhood of God and the universal brotherhood of man.

Soon the eastern star will point to the little Jewish baby in the manger, and millions around the world will respond "O come, let us adore Him," for they said "His name shall be called Wonderful, the Prince of Peace, and of His government and peace there shall be no end."

EXERCISES AT SPROTT-SHAW

The twenty-second Christmas closing exercises of the Sprott-Shaw School took place on Friday afternoon in the well-filled assembly room of the school. With the exception of the presentation of the prizes for the December typewriting tournament, the entire programme was arranged and conducted by the students of the Sprott-Shaw School.

Kenneth Luttrell presided and after a few opening remarks he called upon Miss Margaret Campbell (Banff) to read the verses composed by the students outlining the programme to follow

A piano solo by William Hayward delighted the audience, at whose request he responded with an appropriate encore. The spelling contest, conducted by Miss Iola Worthington and Vernor Jones, was won, after a most exciting test, by Miss Gladys Bayley. An interesting feature of the afternoon's programme was a challenge by the semi-finalists of the senior and the junior tournaments to the champions of their respective tournaments. In the typewriting contest which followed, Miss Jean Munro defeated the senior champion, Miss Mary Morrison, while in the junior class Miss Ruth Kinch retained her title.

The dramatization of "The Highwayman," arranged and conducted by Miss Laurraine Steele, was the most humorous part of the programme. Miss Steele selected as her caste: Misses Jean Craig, Frances Donald, Susie Jones, Ruth Kinch, Jean Munro and Thelma Thompson.

The merits of Pitman shorthand were described in verse of his own production by Harold MacLean, while Miss Alison Smith read her verses, upholding the Gregg system of shorthand.

In his address to the students, James H. Beatty, managing-director of the Sprott-Shaw School, complimented the students on their interesting presentation of a number of the subjects which formed part of their course, on their ability to entertain, and on their capacity to assume leadership in each of the groups who had planned the programme. Mr. Beatty expressed his praise to the students on their outstanding ability and the progress made in the different departments of the school. Especially was he pleased with the work of the junior students in the typewriting department. In the junior class Mr. Beatty announced that a record had been established for the school by Miss Ruth Kinch, who, at the end of seventy-six hours of classroom practice, in a fifteen-minute contest, wrote 891 words, with twelve errors, making a net rate per minute of 51.4 words. Previous to 1934, under similar conditions, the school record by the junior typist was 48.2 words net a minute in a fifteen-minute test of five-stroke words. Miss Kinch, a graduate of the Esquimalt High School, is seventeen years of age, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kinch of 1596 Garden Street. She is taking the complete secretarial course for the diploma issued by the Business Educators' Association of Canada.

Mr. Beatty presented the following prizes: Miss Mary Morrison, winner senior tournament (open to students who began the study of typewriting before September, 1934); Miss Jean Munro, who made the highest record (60.2 words net) during the senior tournament. Miss Alison Smith, who wrote 850 words in fifteen minutes with one error, won the accuracy prize. Class B of the senior tournament was won by Miss Irene Brockington. Miss Dorothy Hinton had the highest percentage of accuracy, and Mrs. Martha Mannette made the highest record in the class B senior tournament.

The prizes for the junior tournament (open to students who began the study of typewriting after September 4, 1934) were won in class A by Miss Ruth Kinch with 50.2 words net; accuracy by Miss Jean Craig, who wrote 882 words with three errors. Class B junior honors were won by Miss Louise Rogers and the accuracy prize by Miss Mollie Mitchell.

In the beginners' contest (open to students who began the study of typewriting on or after October 1, 1934) Miss Addaleen Adair, Saskatchewan, won first place with a record of 35.2 words net, after fifty-eight hours' classroom practice. In this contest the accuracy prizes were won by Misses Addaleen Adair, Evelyn Cook and Madge Hersey, who each turned in perfect papers in fifteen-minute contests.

Carol singing by the class added much to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

Miss Frances Frost brought the programme to a very high [illegible] cleverly written and intelligently read poem. Presentations were made to Mr. Beatty, J. R. Jones and Miss Noonan. The decorations were supervised by Miss A. Andrews and Messrs. Alan MacPherson and Harold Sewell.

Much merriment was caused when Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus appeared, who after clever and witty speeches, presented gifts to each of the students from the beautifully decorated and well-laden Christmas tree.

Refreshments were served on daintily appointed tables, where Christmas decorations were profusely carried out. The classes then adjourned until the school opening in the new year, on January 2.

Compensation For Fraser River Bridge Company to Be 7 1-2 Per Cent

Details of the government's proposed agreement with the Fraser River Bridge Company on construction of the new bridge at New Westminster were referred to Friday by Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands and Municipal Affairs.

Instead of building the bridge on its own account, the company would act as the agent for the government, he said. It would be compensated for its services in this respect and also for expenditures incurred in preliminary work. The amount of the compensation was placed at 7½ per cent on a total amount not to exceed $3,000,000. The cost of the bridge has been estimated at $3,000,000.

As already indicated, Mr. Gray said the tolls on the bridge would be as low as possible. Passenger automobiles might pay about 10 cents and there would probably be no charge for pedestrians or bicycles. Farmers' trucks taking produce to market might be allowed an exemption from tolls and special rates for frequent users of the bridge probably would be arranged.

Plans called for elimination of the exclusive right to the Fraser River Bridge Company which would prohibit any bridge or ferry crossing for several miles above and below the bridge.

The whole matter, he said, would be placed before the Legislature next session.

Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, declined to comment, stating he would reserve his remarks about the bridge contract for the Legislature.

WORK ALL NIGHT LOADING HAMPERS

OLYMPIC SPORT

The heaving about of hampers will, it is understood, be listed for the next Olympic games. Hampers averaged sixty pounds. The biggest ones came nearer the 100 mark.

There were naturally a few hitches in the distribution. In one case children playing on the streets gave a wrong address, and a woman with tears in her eyes, came to the door to receive a hamper which had been destined for someone with a similar name, but which she obviously needed and had not liked to ask for

FEW COMPLAINTS

But taken in all the trouble calls have been remarkably few. Some of them came from people who were to receive hampers from other organizations, saw the Gyro truck passing, and thought they were being left out.

There has not been a single complaint about the contents of the Gyro hampers, which for many families will mean the happiest Christmas in years.

A feature of the hamper distribution which has gone to show that real generosity is not yet dead is the fact that in eight cases families have refused hampers because the breadwinner had found a new job, and they thought there were others in greater need than themselves

That the Gyros have got the hearts of the community behind them, and will have in future years, is being proved by the letters of appreciation which are beginning to arrive at Gyro headquarters.

The main work of the Hamper Fund is finished now, but there is still a lot of clearing up to be done, and the workers will be busy for several days yet.

POPE PLEADS AGAINST WAR

This people will be: 'Destroy, oh Lord, those who wish war.'

"But we prefer our first prayer."

His Holiness concluded by repeating with passionate emphasis the word:

"Peace, peace, peace."

VOICE OF WAR

The voice of war, said the Pontiff, was added to "all the discomfort, pain and real evil of the present crisis which is felt in all directions in private and public life."

He urged the world to invoke the comforts of the Virgin Mary in these troubles, particularly in the moment when the famous shrine at Loreto has been taken over by the Vatican under its treaty of conciliation with Italy.

The Pope said he rejoiced over the success of the Holy Year just past in a moment when the world was disturbed by so many conflicting currents, as to suggest that the justice of God might be about to descend on mankind. He said the Eucharistic Congresses at Buenos Aires and Melbourne were matters of consolation, and expressed the desire that Eucharistic Congresses might develop evermore.

To-night the Pope will avail himself of an age-old privilege accorded to every parish priest only on Christmas Eve. With only a few intimates in attendance he will go to his private chapel at midnight and recite three separate masses in commemoration of the birth of the Saviour.

All Revolvers To Be Registered In 1935

Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island by the officer commanding the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and such officers as are appointed by him throughout each of these provinces, and in the cities and large towns by the chief constable, it is announced.

In British Columbia registration will be performed by the commissioner of the provincial police and officers of that force appointed by him, and also by chief constables of cities and large towns.

In the Northwest Territories and the Yukon the officer commanding the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and such other officers of the force as are stationed in the Territories and members of the force in charge of detachments, will handle registration.

Foreign Minister Laval to Confer With Mussolini at Rome; Italy Wants More Territory in North Africa

Paris, Dec. 24. — Foreign Minister Pierre Laval, soon to go to Rome to talk things over with Premier Mussolini, has first laid his plans for Italo-French co-operation in the Danube region before Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary.

Saturday the French member fully explained the project, and told Sir John he intended to go to Rome, probably after the Saar plebiscite, January 13.

"On our agreement in views," M. Laval said, "depends the maintenance in Central and Eastern Europe of the political order closely linked to the interest of European peace."

Observers, too, were agreed France and Italy both carry great weight in the two camps into which the Balkans are divided, and believed that region might lose its nickname, "the powder keg of Europe," if M. Laval and Premier Mussolini get together in friendship.

CHIEF QUESTIONS

Four problems need ironing out:

(1) The new naval rivalry of Italy.

(2) Affairs of the Balkans.

(3) Two disputes in Africa—a territorial one in French Equatorial Africa and the status of Italians in Tunis.

(4) Economic relations between France and Italy.

Both France and Italy are eager to strengthen the economic position of the Balkans as an effective check to German economic expansion there. Relief for Austria is particularly desired. A Danubian customs union also will probably be sought.

In Africa, Italy seeks a slice of territory from French Equatorial and French West Africa to add to Italian Lybia. In return France wants Italy to discontinue her challenge of the French hold in Tunisia.

ITALY'S REQUESTS

Rome, Dec. 24.—"Come across with some colonial concessions," Fascist Italy says succinctly and emphatically to France as French Foreign Minister Pierre Laval prepares for his forthcoming visit to Benito Mussolini.

Italy divides her colonial claims into two divisions: First, return to territory unlawfully taken away from her by Anglo-French agreement; second, concessions in fulfillment of the promise France made in the 1915 Treaty of London.

The first heading concerns the southern border of Libya, the colony of which General Italo Balbo is governor.

Italy wants from France at least restitution of the considerable triangle of South Libya, cut off by the 1919 Anglo-French agreement.

This item, Italy argues, has nothing to do with the compensations she should have received from the London Treaty of 1915.

Article 13 of the Treaty of London established that, in case France and Great Britain received additions to their colonial empires at the expense of Germany, Italy should get equable territorial compensations in Africa.

COMMISSION MET

The German colonies did fall to the lot of France and Greaat Britain. Then there met in Paris a special colonial commission to determine the colonial compensations to be made to Italy. Negotiations continued for some years.

Britain paid up. She ceded Italy the territory of Jubaland, which became united to Italian Somaliland.

The negotiations with France, on the other hand, have not been concluded.

FAMILY LOSES NORTHERN HOME

But Plane Makes It Possible For Mother and Baby to Get to Winnipeg

Edmonton, Dec. 24.—Her northern cabin destroyed by fire a few days before Christmas, Mrs. J. Falchney, wife of a fur trader at Chipewyan Lake, near Wabiskaw, some 200 miles north of Edmonton, left here by train at the week-end with her ten-month-old baby to spend Christmas with her parents in Winnipeg.

Early one evening last week a coal oil lamp was accidentally knocked from the table in the little log cabin and in a few minutes the room was a flaming inferno.

Seizing the baby from the crib, Mr. and Mrs. Falchney escaped, but were unable to save any of the household effects or clothing.

For two days they lived in their trading post store until C. H. "Punch" Dickins, superintendent of the Canadian Airways Limited, on a flight to trading posts, flew Mrs. Falchney and her baby out to Edmonton Saturday.

CEYLON SWEPT BY EPIDEMIC

Associated Press

Colombo, Ceylon, Dec. 24.—A malaria epidemic estimated to have caused 2,000 deaths in Ceylon in the last two weeks continued to-day to rage and spread rapidly.

So many thousands were affected throughout the island as well as in this city of 284,000 population that it was feared the country will face a famine next year.

Leaders Have Real Message Of Hope At Christmas Season

PREMIER T. D. PATTULLO

"The Christmas season is one when we especially take thought of each other, and it is well that by word and deed we should endeavor to brighten the lot of those less fortunate than ourselves.

"While during the past year definite progress has been made towards the amelioration and remedying of untoward conditions in the lives of many of our people, the task ahead will require the sagest advice and most unremitting effort to meet the challenge of modern complexities. If we all maintain the spirit of goodwill towards each other the task will be easier of accomplishment.

"May I extend Christmas greetings and good wishes to all."

MAYOR DAVID LEEMING

"On this joyous occasion, when the Christian nations join in one accord to celebrate the birth of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, who taught suffering humanity that the greatest commandments of all were love for God and man, let us rejoice that a broader sense of man's responsibility to his fellow man is receiving a wider expression than formerly.

"The efforts made in this City of Victoria and its environs to alleviate the distress of those less fortunate shows that our citizens are imbued with the desire to give active expression to the spirit of these commandments.

"To all whose efforts have contributed in the work of easing the burdens of others, either by work or through donations, or both, I wish on behalf of our citizens generally to extend to them the heartiest thanks possible.

"St. Paul, in his essay on 'charity,' which is the active expression of love, said: 'Charity never faileth,' and I am convinced that we shall experience the benefits of unselfish giving which are expressed in the passage, 'Give and it shall be given unto you, full measure, pressed down and running over.'

"On behalf of the city council I wish to all the old greeting, 'A Merry Christmas'."

REV. ROBERT CONNELL
House Leader of C.C.F.

"It is no doubt a long way we have to go yet, but there can hardly be a better Christmas wish for us one and all than that the day may speedily come when the spirit of Christmas shall be as widely diffused as the air we breathe; when brotherhood and co-operation shall be daily principles of action; and when the exploitation of our fellow-man with its attendant poverty and degradation shall be replaced by the just and equitable service of the common weal.

BYRON JOHNSON, M.P.P.

"I appreciate the opportunity of expressing, through your columns, the heartiest good wishes for the Christmas season to my friends and constituents in Victoria. Unfortunately I am unable to be in the city for the holiday, but that does not depreciate the warmth of the felicitations.

"Among public men I think there is a feeling this Christmas that we are on the path out of our difficulties. The last few years have been a period of great stress but I sincerely feel the year 1935 will mark a big step forward not only for Victoria and the province but for Canada as a whole."

HERBERT ANSCOMB, M.P.P.

"I wish to take this opportunity of extending to Victorians best wishes for the Christmas season. It would also be opportune at this time to note the fine work of those engaged in assisting the less fortunate during this season of the year. The undertaking of the Gyro Club has been most commendable while the splendid work of Mrs. R. B. Mosher is also very praiseworthy. To these organizations I extend my personal appreciation for their efforts with the hope that the necessity for their operations will grow less in the future.

D. B. PLUNKETT, M.P.

"In wishing everyone a very merry Christmas I do so in the feeling that with prospects of improvement in trade throughout the country there is real reason why this Christmas should be a happy one. And I express the sincere hope that in the coming year contentment and prosperity will come to many of our citizens who have undergone the strain of these hard and trying years."

HON. JOHN HART
Minister of Finance, M.P.P. for Victoria

"I desire to extend to citizens of Victoria and the people of British Columbia as a whole my most sincere wishes for a happy Christmas season and for a bright New Year.

"I am satisfied that business is on the mend and that though there may be some distress for a while longer we can look with confidence for greatly improved conditions during the year. Production from all basic sources in the province has shown an increase and with a continuance of this and the general improvement in business we can hope for much alleviation in the unemployment situation."

MAYOR-ELECT G. G. McGEER, K.C. OF VANCOUVER

"Grave as our financial and unemployment troubles are there is an ever growing inclination of men in all walks of life and in all departments of government to co-operate in a spirit of goodwill. In extending a message of Christmas greetings and sincere hope for better conditions in the coming year I feel that we are about to deal with our economic and social problems upon a broader basis than anything that has yet been attempted. Our problems are not insurmountable. No factor can be of greater assistance than the continuation of the spirit of Christmas into the work that lies ahead of us. With courage and goodwill we cannot fail; without it we cannot succeed."

Two Hopeful Signs In Naval Outlook

Tokio Instructs Delegates to Act on British Suggestions; U.S. Considering New Policy Regarding Neutrals in Wartime

Canadian Press

London, Dec. 24.—Two signs that there might be cause for optimism yet in the complex naval limitation question were seen to-day by observers.

From Tokio came instructions to the Japanese delegates who attended the tri-partite naval conversations, authorizing them to act on the suggestion make by the British representatives that they seek through further informal talks a basis of agreement. The Washington Pact, setting a five-five-three ratio for Britain, the United States and Japan, is doomed by Tokio's decision to denounce it.

A naval conference, at which France and Italy will be represented in addition to the three largest sea-powers, has been scheduled for next year, although no date has yet been set.

SECOND HOPEFUL FEATURE

A second cause for hopefulness consisted of reports from Washington that President Roosevelt was considering a new United States policy relative to the rights of neutrals on the high seas during war times—one delicate question which has on one occasion during the last 150 years caused friction between Britain and the United States.

In this connection The London Sunday Times said the reports constituted an opportunity for a practical accord between Britain and the United States. This, it suggested, might contain two clauses, one of which set forth no submarine blockade could be effected, and the second that, "in the absence of an effective blockade, the highways of the sea shall be free to trade between the United States and Britain."

Arrest Follows Attempt to Swim Way To Freedom

Friday. It was one of several break-ins reported within three hours, including the entry of the Piggly-Wiggly store at Richmond Avenue and Fort Streets, in which a safe and its contents were taken.

The safe was found yesterday by Frank Clear, a duck hunter of Sidney, who located it on the beach at Land's End Point, six miles from Sidney, where it had been thrown from the top of a twenty foot embankment.

Police to-day did not link up the two cases, and were continuing their investigation of the safe stealing. When found it had been "cracked," and the contents, including about $100, removed.

JUSTICE MOVES FAST

McSwayne's arrest followed swift investigation by city detectives, who located the cache early yesterday, and commenced an all-day vigil to await the approach of those who hid it.

The cache was located by Detectives Pearon, Woodburn and Henry Jarvis, whose work was commended by officials of the department. From deductions they made on a similar case, some years ago, they found the cache about fifty yards from the wall of the dockyard, a short distance from the water's edge. It was concealed in heavy underbrush.

Constables Thomas Stevenson and Dave Donaldson were detailed to watch the scene yesterday evening, the former being placed near the cache and the latter near the dockyard wall.

About 9.30 o'clock three men approached the cache. Constable Stevenson waited until they had picked up the cartons and then ordered them to "drop them and stick your hands up." The cartons were dropped and the three men took to the bushes after they had been recognized under the light from the policemen's flashlight.

SHOTS EXCHANGED

They sped in different directions. Constable Stevenson fired into the ground, towards McSwayne, ordering him to stop. McSwayne kept on going and as he vaulted over the dockyard wall Constable Donaldson put two more shots over his head.

The shots aroused men in the dockyard, who rushed down to the water, where they found Constable Donaldson had discovered an overcoat in the water.

In a few minutes McSwayne came within view of their flashlights. "It's too — cold. I guess I lose," he was reported to have stated as he came out of the water. He was about fifty yards out, headed for Yarrows, when he is alleged to have given up.

The three cartons of cigarettes were recovered.

McSwayne was charged in the Esquimalt police court this morning with possession of the goods and the case was remanded until next Monday. No plea was taken. The Esquimalt police also took part in the investigation, co-operating with the city men in the locating and watching of the cache.

Border Incident Menace Is Eased

Moscow Denies Russian Troops Entered Manchukuo; Japanese Friendly

Associated Press

Moscow, Dec. 24.—Tass, the news agency of the U.S.S.R., yesterday evening, issued a statement branding as "purest nonsense" a report from Harbin that a detachment of red troops had entered Manchurian territory.

Tokio, Dec. 24 (Associated Press)—Japanese officials said to-day there was no likelihood of serious trouble over a reported Soviet invasion of the remote Tungning district of Manchukuo.

Both the War Office and the Foreign Office here lacked official details of the incident. Soviet troops from Siberia were said to have encamped in Manchukuoan territory, but the official attitude here was not to take the matter seriously.

The government here was represented as feeling that relations between Russia and Japan were the most amicable in many months, with negotiations for the transfer of the Chinese Eastern Railway nearing completion.

SAAR TRAIN WRECK DENIED

Officials Spike Rumors Attempt Made on Cars Carrying Italian Troops

Associated Press

Saarbruecken, Saar Basin Territory, Dec. 24.—Rumors that an attempt had been made to wreck a train bringing Italian troops here to form part of the international army to supervise the January 13 plebiscite were denied to-day by Italian officers and officers of the League of Nations Governing Commission.

Another rumor said the Italians were dissatisfied with their lodgings and had threatened to leave the Saar unless better ones were provided, but members of the general staff called this "nonsense."

ARRIVALS CHEERED

Cheers and tears greeted the first group of expatriates from North and South America, traveling on free tickets, who arrived here to vote in the plebiscite. Some 25,000 persons stood for three hours here yesterday awaiting the train bearing 450 Nazi sympathizers.

Approximately 55,000 former residents of the Saar, it is estimated, will vote in the plebiscite, by which the territory will decide whether to return to Germany, unite with France or remain under the League of Nations.

HE WAS INTOXICATED

Associated Press

London, Dec. 24.—A special dispatch to The London Daily Herald from Saarbruecken to-day said reports of an attempted outrage against an Italian military train in the Saar territory had been traced to the arrest of an apparently innocent drunkard along the railroad line yesterday evening.

The dispatch quoted French authorities as saying a man who was drunk could not explain what he was doing on the tracks and would be expelled. The manner in which the case was being disposed of by the authorities "would indicate the outrage report is wrong," said the dispatch.

Washington Government Eliminates Duty; Organization Set Up to Get Supplies For Drought Areas

Associated Press

Washington, Dec. 24.—Hay may now be imported duty free from Canada for use in the drought areas of the United States.

Under an agreement signed to-day by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, an "agency for deficiency distribution" was set up to import hay from Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba into drought areas of five north central states.

Companies participating in the arrangement are the Farmers' National Grain Corporation of Chicago, the Nargill Elevator Company of Minneapolis and F.-H. Peavey and Company of Minneapolis.

Hay has been brought into this country from Canada by other importers, but in a very meagre amounts, since it was subject to duty.

F. Peavey Heffelfinger of the Monarch Elevator Company of Minneapolis was named manager of the organization. Offices were established at Minneapolis, Winnipeg and Saskatoon.

All operations of the agency will be financed by the participating companies without government aid

RATES SET

Hay will be purchased by the companies at rates fixed under the agreement, and will be distributed to local commercial dealers in the Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming and Minnesota on a service charge basis.

Base prices per ton for the classes of hay specified in the agreement will be "wheat straw, $1.75; oat straw, $2.25; upland prairie hay, $7.50; prairie hay, $6; alfalfa, $10.50; timothy, $8.50, and grain hay, $7.50."

All prices are based on Canadian currency. To these prices will be added freight costs on both sides of the border. These include $2 a ton for bailing, fifty cents a ton commission to Canadian dealers; fifty cents a ton to the distribution agency to cover operating costs, and a service charge of not more than $1.50 a ton to local handlers in United States.

Freight rates on the Canadian side will not exceed $5.20, and will drop to $3.40 a ton from points nearest to the Canadian border, it was said.

Mr. Wallace estimated the project would make approximately 300,000 tons of Canadian roughage available

ALBERTA'S OUTLOOK

Premier R. G. Reid of Alberta—"I am happy to express the feeling of increased confidence with which the province of Alberta enters on the new year. Notwithstanding the damaging influence of crop failures in some parts of the province, there have been numerous signs of improvement throughout the year which is now closing."

WILL OVERCOME OBSTACLES

Acting Premier Harry C. Nixon of Ontario—"I am confident we can and will overcome any remaining obstacles between ourselves and the full enjoyment of general prosperity. By comparison with other countries we have so much for which to be profoundly grateful, and it is with optimism and good cheer that I extend my best wishes for a truly merry Christmas and a particularly happy and prosperous new year."

UNITED EFFORT

"I am delighted to state," wrote Premier L. P. D. Tilley of New Brunswick, "that our province is slowly but surely pulling through the depression period, and conditions look much more hopeful for 1935. Let us unite in a effort to bring his country back to normal conditions."

RICHLY ENDOWED

Premier W. J. P. MacMillan of Prince Edward Island—"In view of the increasing evidence that we are emerging from these difficult days, abundantly endowed to lead the nations forward to prosperity, we have reason to face the future with greater optimism and unity of purpose."

No Tampering With Jury Panel

Chicago Woman Lawyer Denies Accusation in B. R. Hauptmann Case

Associated Press

Flemington, N.J., Dec. 24.—The prosecution in the case of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Lindbergh kidnap-slaying suspect, charged "a deliberate and malicious effort has been made to tamper with the jury panel in Hauptmann's behalf."

In its statement the prosecution declared the alleged effort to tamper with the panel was made by "some unknown source, known as 'The Confidential News Syndicate, Chicago.' Evidently from that office," the statement continued, "a booklet has been circulated through the U.S. mail to every juror on the panel of 150."

Copyrighted by "Mary Belle Spencer" in 1933, the booklet appears to be an imaginative court record of the trial of one John Doe on a charge of kidnapping an infant. He is eventually acquitted by the jury.

WRITTEN AS SATIRE

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Mary Belle Spencer, Chicago lawyer who wrote the pamphlet referred to by Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, New Jersey, as an attempt "to tamper" with the Lindbergh jury panel, to-day scoffed at the charge.

"The whole thing was a satire, written and dictated by me for my own amusement merely to poke fun at the asininity of our police and court system as a whole," Mrs. Spencer said. She stated the pamphlet was not circulated by her.

As for the "Confidential News Syndicate," Mrs. Spencer added, "that also was a part of the fiction of the whole thing." The address of the "syndicate," 155 N. Clark, is the address of the attorney's office.

Charming Entertainment By Solarium Children

A. A. Milne's Play "Winnie-the-Pooh" Presented Saturday Afternoon By Little Patients; Santa Claus Distributes Gifts; Prizes Presented

According to the old adage Christmas comes but once a year, and when it comes brings good cheer. There is no cheerier place at the Yuletide season than the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay, and on Saturday afternoon the sixty little patients enjoyed the annual Christmas entertainment and party with a gusto which might well be envied by other more fortunate children

As in other years an entertainment by the children was followed by a visit from Santa Claus, who distributed several gifts to each child from his capacious sack, and it was amazing to see how well the genial old saint had foreseen the wishes of the youngsters; even the small boy who wanted two autos got them, and both were streamline models, too.

CHARMING PLAY

Scenes from A. A. Milne's charming story of "Winnie-the-Pooh" were presented by some of the up-children, in a setting depicting a woodland glade. As with all the Solarium entertainments, the children acted with a delightful unself-consciousness and naivete which was charming, and at the same time touching, splints and crutches being no handicap to their interpretation of the quaint characters.

Robert Guay was a convincing Eeyore, with his horse-like head; Leonard Weaver was amusing as the greedy bear, Winnie-the-Pooh; Beth Clague, a fresh young Christopher Robin; Joy Deacon, a fascinating little Piglet; Mildred Holder was Kanga; Sheila Colbert, Baby Roo; Ronald Wakefield, a most vacillating Tigger, with a variable appetite; Robinette Zimmerman, John Little and Margaret Davis were tiny beeties in green costumes; Margory Goss and Mary King, sprightly little elves, and Amiko Sasaki, Bobby Davis, Wesley Calahaisen, Anna King, Jean Fairley, Molly Sears, Marion Gotch, Arthur Eirainson and Lillian Gregory were baby rabbits.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS

At the conclusion of the play the entire cast assembled in tableau formation and sang very sweetly a number of carols: "Joy to the World," "Like Silver Lanterns in the Sky," "A Babe in a Manger," "Christ is Born in Bethlehem," "Holy Night" and "Little Town of Bethlehem."

The splendid performance given by all the little actors reflected much credit upon the patient training of Miss Budd and Miss Ebbs-Canavan, the teachers, who also were responsible for the very clever and charming costumes worn in the play.

PRIZES PRESENTED

The accompaniments also were entrusted to one of the Solarium children, Aileen Steele, who later shared with Grace Woods the Dame Fawcett prize awarded to the best girl in the school, when W. B. Lannigan, president of the Solarium board of directors, presented these awards. Robert Guay, who, like Aileen Steele, had passed his entrance examinations as a candidate from the Solarium school last summer, won the Dame Fawcett prize for the best boy

After the formal part of the entertainment Dr. C. Wace and Miss Stone welcomed Santa Claus, who made his appearance at the door to the delight of the youngsters, and nurses and guests assisted tiny fingers to open the beautifully wrapped gifts, while little eyes got rounder and rounder.

Further excitement was created by the entrance of a huge Christmas pudding, topped with creamy sauce and holly, which when cut proved to be a luscious ice cream cake, the gift of the Palm Dairies Ltd., which annually remembers the little patients.

The grown-ups were then entertained at tea in the recreation room, which, as with the remainder of the institution, was beautifully decorated with holly and Christmas decorations.

TO DANCE AT SNOW BALL

Miss Maureen Grute, well-known Victoria dancer, who will be one of the attractions at the Snow Ball, which the Beaux Arts will stage at the Empress Hotel on Boxing Day. This will be one of the outstanding functions of the festive season. Balloons, streamers, Christmas trees and snowballs will add to the gaiety of the affair on Wednesday evening.

Weddings

LONG—YOUNG

The marriage took place at the St. Matthias Church, on Saturday, December 22, of Norah, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Young, Courtland Avenue, Saanich, and Mr. William H. Long, youngest son of Mrs. and the late Mr. James Long, of Middlesex, England. Rev. Robert Connell officiated.

BALDWIN—CLARCK

A pretty wedding was celebrated at St. Paul's Anglican Church in Nanaimo, Saturday evening, when Canon H. V. Hitchcox united in marriage Miss Margaret Clarck, youngest daughter of Mrs. and the late Alphonse Clarck, and Horace Baldwin, son of Mr. Baldwin, Rosehill Avenue, Nanaimo. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. James Reid, looked charming in her bridal robe of white georgette over satin, and wore the traditional wedding veil, with shoes of white, with silver trimmings. Her bouquet was a shower of carnations and lilies. She was attended by Miss Doris Baldwin, sister of the groom. The groom was supported by Mr. Russell Clarck, Mr. Arthur Clarck acting as usher.

During the signing of the register Miss Gladys Addison sang "Because." The nuptial music was played by Mrs. Fred Nash. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Elite Hall, Nanaimo, where a large number of invited guests sat down to supper. The happy couple left for Seattle, where the honeymoon will be spent. On their return they will reside in Nanaimo.

TWO SCORE IN ALIMONY ROW

Associated Press

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Fifty-six misogamists in alimony row of the Cook County jail to-day had their Yule tidings from the judge, and for forty-six it was very unchristmasy news indeed.

Ten of the IOU fraternity, some of whom "pledged" the cellblock when the bloom of August was still on the posies in Lincoln Park, stepped out into the December snowbanks. They won Christmas freedom on promises to shave down their respective arrearages to "the little woman."

But the hapless forty-six will spend the day of holly and mistletoe chinning themselves on the bars and hoping their ex-wives' Christmas turkeys are very tough birds. These are the skeptics who think Santa Claus is really a woman with a warped viewpoint.

DID NOT LIVE FOR CHRISTMAS

Muskegon, Mich., Dec. 24.—Five-year-old Donna Mavis Shaw, who knew all of the sorrow and some of the joys of the fictional "Tiny Tim," died last night amid the tinsel and holly of "the Christmas yet to come."

Suffering from a malignant growth which her physicians feared would not permit her to live until Tuesday, Donna died while her parents arranged her gifts around the gaily decorated tree which they hoped against hope Donna would be able to enjoy Christmas morning.

It was Christmas time for Donna, right up to the last. She had been able to see her tree, had ridden in the toy automobile upon which she had set her heart and had been thrilled with hundreds of greeting cards sent to her from all parts of the country.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

In every walk of life, whatever the financial circumstances, it can be taken for granted that whether Christmas be a day of purely religious significance, or whether it means a reunion with family, or friends, and a day of gift-giving and celebration, it always starts out happily and too often ends in a disagreeable snarl.

The sacrifice of time, of thought, the excessive effort to provide wanted gifts often beyond the limits of one's purse, the excitement and emotionalism of the day itself, exhaust the parental spirit, put barbs on tongues and light fires under tempers.

PLAN A REST PERIOD

One wishes that this might not be. One wishes that the day begun with such high purposes, with such a self-sacrificing and gracious spirit, might end on the same note. It might, were parents readier to recognize their own limits of endurance and quick to detect symptoms of fatigue and strain in their children. Too high, excitable laughter, the ready tears, the tendency to run madly from one toy to another, and be dissatisfied with all of them—these are the danger signals.

See that a nap or rest period divides the wearisome day in half. Send the children out for a period of active play in the open air to work off excess energy, induced by the rich, nutritious meals, the unusual amount of sweets, and thus prevent temper tantrums and indigestion.

A GIFT MORE PRECIOUS

Tactfully put away some or all of the new toys and present the small [illegible] toys as familiar as to avert all concentration and fatigue in the effort to enjoy them.

If this is to be the children's day, it is just as important that they be saved fatigue and stress, unpleasant scolding or punishment as that they receive all the toys and games and clothing for which they have voiced requests.

Let them be tucked into bed with the feeling that Christmas is a perfect day, from every angle, and the parent will have offered them a memory gift more precious than any perishable material one.

COLWOOD

Colwood, Dec. 24.—Colwood School pupils, under the direction of E. Emery and Miss C. Godfrey, presented an excellent Christmas entertainment on Thursday evening. The programme was as follows: "The Broken Doll," Diane Christensen; "On Bethlehem's Hills," Division Two, soloist, Dola Hughes, Robin Thomas, Geoffrey Duprose and George Blogg, "Christmas Worries," Robert Wall, Bobbie Turner, Ronnie Realey, Toddy Sherwin, Arthur Vallis and Allan Windle; a lullaby, Alice Jameson; "Filling a Christmas Stocking," Patsy Barker, Betty Jameson, Buddie Peate, Joyce Christensen, Kenneth Cockerton, Herbie Cooper, Pat Peatt and Hughie Redley; "Christmas Home Songs," May King, Buddie Peatt, Ellen Gummeson and Phyllis Little; "A Christmas Dream"—Dola Hughes, Robin Thomas, Bobbie Page, Lawrence Wall, Jimmie Chow, Holly Chow. A Christmas Recipe"—Lewis Neff. "Offering From Foreign Lands" — Rola Hughes, Phyllis Little, Betty Jameson, Buddie Peatt, Patsy Parker, Ellen Gummeson. A Minstrel Show—Robin Thomas as Old Black (violin and vocal solo); Marguerite Hinksman (Satin-Glo), "Mammy's Little Alabama Coon"; David Duprose (snowball), Nancy Pat; interlocutor, David McLean; ends, Arthur Sherwin (bones), Dick Cockburn (Sambo). A Lighted Christmas Greeting — Allan Windle, Kenneth Cockerton, Pat Peate, Phyllis Luite, Patsy Parker, Herbie Cooper, Elsie Neff, Bobbie Turner, Betty Peatt, Ellen Gummeson, Betty Jameson, May Hing, Lawrence Wall, Bobby Paget. Rev. Acheson Lyle acted as chairman. After refreshments were served Santa Claus presented each child with a gift—balloon and candy—from a decorated tree.

SANTA VISITS HOSPITAL TOTS

Daughters of Pity Sponsor Party at Jubilee

The Daughters of Pity played Santa Claus Saturday night in the children's ward of the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

A Christmas concert by a talented party of entertainers and Old Saint Nick himself (in the person of Miss Kathleen Roberts, president of the society) gave the kiddies a happy time until well after their usual hour for bed, and the nurses joined in the fun.

The children themselves staged an impromptu concert with the nurses before Santa Claus arrived. "Jingle Bells" and the other popular Christmas songs swelled from young throats, which were lusty enough despite illness.

The ward was decorated with lighted trees and festoons of cedar boughs, while Mickey Mouse balloons, teddy bears, dolls and other Christmas knicknacks were strewn about the ward.

Santa visited each of the little in turn with a present all wrapped in Christmas trimmings. Large eyes glowed and little fingers trembled excitedly as they were opened.

From the children's ward, Santa Claus visited the babies' ward and was greeted with gurgles and cooing as "he" pinned rattles on the coverlets.

The artists entertaining the children were announced by Samuel J. Drake, president of the hospital board.

June Gibson, arrayed in theatrical clothes, did a tap dance. Geraldine Elliott performed some Scotch dances and Barbara Groves, dressed as a fairy, did singing and dancing. L. O. Conyers rendered three vocal solos, and Florence Hobday drew loud acclaim from the kiddies for an impersonation of Minnie Mouse tap-dancing.

The kiddies were served ice cream before being tucked in for the night.

Albanians Say No Revolt Staged

Associated Press

Tirana, Albania, Dec. 24.—The Albanian Government, in denying reports from abroad of revolt, said today there was complete calm throughout the country.

An official statement issued by the Foreign Office said false reports concerning an uprising in the Dibra region had been circulated in Albania with the apparent purpose of marring the celebration to-day of the tenth anniversary of King Zog's ascension to the throne.

REPORT IN GREECE

To-day was the tenth anniversary of Zog's ascension to the throne and a national celebration had been planned by the little Adriatic kingdom.

CHILDREN'S TEA GAY ONE

Over 250 Little Guests at Empress Hotel Saturday Afternoon

Over 250 children crammed the lounge of the Empress Hotel on Saturday afternoon on the occasion of the annual Christmas tea arranged by the management, the affair being one of the jolliest functions of the year.

Illuminated and glittering Christmas trees formed an appropriate setting for the prettily decorated tea tables and during the afternoon "Torchy" Peden, Archie McKinnon and Bob Gordon, who enacted the part of clowns, distributed hundreds of toy balloons, which added to the colorful effect. Later the children were led on a merry march by the clowns through the ballroom foyer, where they joined hands and danced around the Christmas tree.

Pupils of Miss Florence Clough appeared in several charming dance numbers, the first being a tap dance by Ethel Gillis, Evelyn Finn and Winifred Hope. The second number was a Spanish waltz by Beverly Armstrong, followed by a buck and wing tap dance by Velda Wille.

Very dainty was the silver ballet, Ilace Roskelly taking the solo dance part as the Fairy Queen. The solo song number, "Santa Claus is Coming to Town," was sung by little Nedra Mitchell and taking part in the ballet were Patsy Shapland, Maureen Ferguson, Leona Calwell, Mary Lou Morgan, Barbara Warren, Beverly Francis, Corinne Earle, Doreen Dalziel, Joan Reid, Marjorie Jones, Joyce Currie and Donna Davis.

Saturday, December 22.

Wake with a sense of excitement this morn for 'tis the last Saturday before Christmas. The shoppes do stay open far into the night at this time and methinks there will be many people dashing about the towne. Hastily poke my nose without my window to see what the day may promise. 'Tis cold with a suspicion of grey clouds about. 'Twould almost seem as though a white Christmas be not far away. I would remind me of the stories my grandfather did tell—of by-gone Christmas days in colder lands.

To town with Mistress Castlemaine, very merry as we meet friends we do know a'rushing about well loaded with parcels. 'Tis a merry time, everyone do smile a greeting and great holiday spirit do permeate the air.

With all this joy and excitement within the air 'tis fitting spot to go within the Posy Shoppe, for here everything be bright and gay. Mistress Whyte doth greet us with a smile even as she doth dash about among the flowers tying up many goode plants and bouquets for delivery before Christmas. The plants within this shoppe be the best in town. Chrysanthemums, too, their spicy fragrance doth breathe the Yuletide spirit. It be well to remember flowers may be telegraphed to friends without the town.

Do immediately to the Period Arts in Belmont House for there be no place in town where 'tis possible to choose last-minute gifts to better advantage than in this fine shoppe. Glassware of the finest, China—English ware that do speak of beauty—brassware of perfect workmanship. Woolen scarfs, hand woven in intricate designs—they do be made right upon this island. Mr. Reynolds do show a multitude of Christmas gift suggestions so different and individual, and withal of prices such as ne'er have been heard of before. Christmas shopping in such place as Period Arts be pleasant, indeed.

Do wish some more fine Christmas bon-bons, for do thinke nothing do help to brighten the few moments after Christmas dining, than these bright Yuletide crackers— and the hats and gewgaws they do contain. Diggon's, at 1208 Government Street, do break boxes in half and do sell but six bonbons, if it so happen 'tis but six one do want. No matter what the price 'tis possible to buy but half the box and methinks this be perfect service indeed. 'Tis possible to buy these fine bonbons in whole box, too. Each and every one do contain a hat —and also a novelty.

With much laughter we do hurry along the streets until we do reach Little and Taylor's shoppe on Yates Street. Do go within to finde this place be very busy indeed. 'Tis well known the quality of all their goodes be of the best and that they do stock many fine articles of jewelry for gift suggestions. Here be fine compacts, cigarette cases, brilliant jewelry, clocks, beautiful watches, fountain pens—and a myriad more thinges that do please fastidious people. Prices, too, do be within the reach of all. Here be shoppe that do have an all year around stock and the quality be maintained with every piece that do come within their portals.

My Christmas shopping be over. All my lists be finished and I do feel well pleased. Did finde so much of pleasure in my shopping this year, and so many new friends did I make within the portals of each shoppe, I am loathe to see this season pass. So much of courtesy did I receive from worthy merchants, I would thanke them one and all—and wish everyone within this town the best Yuletide they did ever experience—and in the year but just appearing upon the horizon an abundance of luck and goode wishes.

The day doth draw to a close—long shadows do steal to me as I sit before my desk penning these last lines within my diary. Soon the lights will shine out and my gay holly wreaths will breathe a soft fragrance of Christmas goode things. Looking forward do see a busy week-end ahead with much of pleasure within the hours. Slowly close the leaves of this my diary—and go to meet Samuel as he do come toward me through the purpling shadows.

Blonde Goddess

— A New Serial —

By HERBERT JENSEN

Who did it? Indians, McGrath thought. He saw one while he lay by the trail's side. He thought Ortega had been captured because he had heard his voice talking with the others. But he couldn't be sure. He'd been nearly unconscious: they had taken him for dead.

"They went through my pockets," whispered McGrath." "Then they threw me into the brush like . . . like a hunk of meat!"

"My gun had fallen in a swamp. I remembered that and fished it out when I came to. They had gone—"

Juan crashed through the brush and crouched, panting, beside Grahame.

"Senor!" He spoke swiftly. "They come! I went back to watch and heard them. They are just behind me!"

"Good boy," breathed Grahame.

* * *

Almost with one gesture he emptied the pan of water upon the smouldering fire, and heaped dirt over the steaming embers. He glanced toward the trail and was satisfied that they were sufficiently screened from the company of men which would pass within the next few minutes. Already he could hear their vague shuffling trail noises.

It was late afternoon. Grahame blessed the luck that had given them this emergency when shadows were deep. Any tell-tale sign they may have left had good chances of being overlooked in that deceptive haze of pre-dusk.

He saw white moving through the screen of brush and trees; then they were abreast of him. Almost he held his breath. On the other side of the wounded man, Juan lay. Studiously the boy kept his eyes fastened upon the moving feet that padded the trail so few yards away.

Grahame smiled. It is said that jungle-wise folk can feel eyes upon them, and Juan was taking no chances. McGrath's breathing, too, seemed quieter.

Mosquitoes and gnats whined at the sweat on Grahame's face. He ached to brush them away—to grind his palms against the skin that twitched in protest against the punishment it was taking.

The column of figures that passed them seemed to be without end. He saw patches of white drifting by—the ammunition cases upon the backs of men. Once the line halted. His hands tightened over the stock of his rifle. There was a faint call from ahead and fragments of white moved again.

Then suddenly the last figure passed. Still Grahame and the boy lay immobile. All sound ceased. For minutes the American remained without movement, then slowly he began to draw one leg forward, preparing to rise. He felt Juan's hand grip his ankle. Again he relaxed.

He heard his wrist watch ticking a yard from his ear. Then came a soft sound from the trail—the breathing of men. It sounded as close as if he were locked in a closed room with several sleepers. He saw nothing although his eyes ached from the intentness of his gaze. Then a shadow drifted by between him and the trail's edge, and vanished.

It seemed hours later when somewhere off to the left sounded the call of a brush turkey. A small animal darted into the tangle ahead of him, moving too swiftly to be identified. Again the turkey called nearer this time. Juan arose. Wings fluttered in the branches about as if his movement had disturbed them

"It is all right now," said the boy. "It was very curious that no birds moved or called after the main company passed. I knew then that others followed to protect the rear." He drew a breath deeply. "We were very lucky," he concluded.

"That's right," said Grahame simply. He turned and looked at McGrath. "McGrath!" he called sharply.

CHAPTER XXIV

Juan glanced at the figure at his feet. He crossed himself. Grahame took off his khaki sun helmet and set it beside the overturned water pan. McGrath's eyes stared glassily at nothing.

"Poor devil," said Grahame. "I wish he had let me give him the hypo."

They buried McGrath in the swamp. Returning, they re-lighted their fire. Although there was plenty of game about, they dared not risk a shot, so ate a meal of cold beans and meat.

They slept for several hours. Grahame decided that for comfort's sake the troupe ahead of them would travel all night. Juan agreed that this was probably true, and if they began to follow about midnight, they could comfortably and safely follow the trail for at least six hours.

They awoke at eleven. Juan slipped off in the darkness and in a little while returned with a large bush turkey dangling by his side. He grinned when Grahame questioned him.

"You heard this one this afternoon. He sleeps in a tree not far from here. To-night—" he chuckled. "—he sleeps with us."

The boy dressed and cooked the bird — tropic refrigeration. The cooked meat would last them through the next day.

They ate, and began their march southward along the trail. Grahame pondered upon what McGrath had told him. The taking of moving pictures in this cruel country seemed a little incredible.

If it were authentic ruins they wanted, there were several within a day's train ride of Merida, the capital of Yucutan, and a civilized place. There was no reason for striking south of Merida into this unknown country.

The wounded man had mentioned the name Ortega. While the name was a common enough one, nevertheless Frank began to have a presentiment that the name was recurring too often to be entirely coincidence. It was an Ortega whom he had never seen that had been involved—he still thought—in Janice's abduction in Hollywood.

It was Ortega who had landed the arms at the hacienda on the east coast. While that had happened two weeks before, still, Ortega in the launch, could have been back at Merida in three days.

And it had been from Merida that still another Ortega had guided the man McGrath in a southeasterly direction to this spot. That is, if it had been another of the same name.

Frank shook his head in puzzlement.

The dying man had said others were to follow. Probably a whole group of actors and technical men. Women, too, most probably. He was struck with a sudden chill. Janice Kent might be among them!

Supposing this was Myberg's company of people come to Yucatan for location. He remembered now that Spin Winslow had said that Myberg liked authentic backgrounds and that this man, Ortega, was to have guided them to where bigger and better ones were.

This would be a beastly place for women if the plan was to come here. He uttered an exclamation that was half irritation, half fear. Juan paused but at Grahame's gruff word continued on.

McGrath had said that his Ortega had been captured by the Indians who had assaulted them. Supposing then that he was one and the same with the man who had landed te guns. Because of that he would have some sinister understanding with these jungle people and would not be harmed. He might even be allowed to return to Merida, where he could make plans to bring the remainder of the motion picture people into this place—and to their destruction!

He speculated upon the motive, then dismissed the train of thought as being unimportant. Plenty of motive for a criminal. Robbery for one, ransom perhaps, although the latter seemed improbable since McGrath had been murdered without a chance to buy himself out of his difficulty. Were there women along, there would be another possibility.

Although the night was cold, the sweat started trickling from his forehead, and the palms of his hands were slippery.

He called ahead to Juan, who slowed his pace until his back was but a yard or two ahead of Grahame.

"Tell me, son," he said. "Have you ever seen these people who live in the jungle?"

"Often. We call them sublevados—unconquered ones. The men come to the coast at the right season and bring blocks of chicle which they sell to the agents."

"What do they look like?"

"A poor lot." Juan spoke contemptuously. "Sometimes we have seen ever heard of the Virgin of Guadalupe, or of the Church, for that matter. They will burn in Hell, all of them, which is a pity perhaps, since some of them are white. I have even seen blonde ones."

"What!" exclaimed Grahame. "Did you say white?"

"Si, senor, white." He chuckled in the darkness. "Ah, those Spaniards were great travelers. They tell me Cortez himself was rubio, blond."

"Have you ever seen their women?"

"No," answered Juan shortly. "Nor has any other Mexican either. That is the reason, I think, why these jungle people hate us so. When Diaz was president, he sent troops in here who acted badly. That was years ago. They were all killed."

"H-m-m," Grahame strode along in silence. Blood calls to blood. If there were renegade whites living in some jungle sanctuary, perhaps there was more than just robbery behind this Ortega's plan to bring the motion picture troupe—with women—into this inaccessible place.

Grahame's belief was growing that McGrath's Ortega and the one who had taken him in his launch to the east coast were of one and the same identity. Some instinct told him also that the Ortega of Hollywood might be the same man.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1934

Benefic aspects rule on this Christmas Day, which dawns with good vibrations, quickening the heart to love and human sympathy.

In the morning hours the vibrations tend to lift the spirit to loftier planes of thought and to extend to all a sense of peace and confidence. Past troubles vanish.

While there is a sign that causes older men and women to indulge in sad memories a philosophic trend will awaken gratitude.

On this day the mind may be exceedingly active and even changeable in its emotions. Extremes again are indicated in the stars. The day will reveal need and luxury, poverty and wealth in all phases.

There should be much joy in sociability. It is an auspicious time to entertain, but in many places simplicity will mark the day's programme. It is well to avoid alcoholic drinks.

Danger of accidents and even of violent crimes is seen in the stars. Care should be exercised in travel by rail automobile and airplane. The week may be marked by changeable weather in many parts of the country.

Wind storms are prognosticated for the winter. Tornadoes and cyclones may cause damage in certain places. Cold weather is forecast for many states. Florida and California will attract tourists.

America, England and Ireland are under a very fortunate rule of the stars. Prosperity is presaged, but warning is given that speculation should be avoided.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of fair business and professional advancement, but domestic affairs may cause anxiety.

Children born on this day probably will be resourceful and ambitious. Subjects of this sign usually are intelligent and scholarly.

Isaac Newton, mathematician and philosopher, was born on this day, 1642.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1934

Astrologers read this as a fortunate day in planetary direction. It is primarily a time for meeting friends and for catching up with holiday letters.

The moon's good aspect to Venus and its conjunction with Neptune operate favorably for all who enjoy artistic entertainments. Theatres and concerts should profit under this sway.

This holiday season should be memorable because it reveals new channels of prosperity and brings us into closer relationship with Great Britain and Canada.

Factories will profit because of a sudden growth in export trade.

Travel to the Orient and to South American countries should show marked increase in the next few months. California's tourist crop may be augmented by a change in winter resort popularity due to interest in sports on the part of the younger set. Florida also will be affected by a passing fancy among the wealthy. Horses are to be of great interest

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of prosperity and advancement in business and the professions.

Children born on this day probably will be practical and energetic. Subjects of this sign usually are imaginative and ambitious. Luck plays an important part in their lives.

Those who have celebrated it as a birthday include Jerome Joseph Green, electrical engineer, 1805; Thomas Gray, English poet, 1716.

The Night Before Christmas

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse:
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads;
And mamma in her 'kerchief, and I in my cap,
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap,
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I sprang from the bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow
Gave the lustre of mid-day to objects below,
When, what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh, and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver, so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled, and shouted, and called them by name:
"Now, Dasher! Now, Dancer! Now, Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet! On, Cupid! On, Donder and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch! To the top of the wall!
Now dash away! Dash away! Dash away all!"
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky,
So up to the house-top the coursers they flew,
With the sleigh full of toys, and St. Nicholas too.
And then, in a twinkling, I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.

As I drew in my head, and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur, from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot;
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.
His eyes—how they twinkled! His dimples how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry!
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard of his chin was as white as the snow;
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath;
He had a broad face and a little round belly,
That shook, when he laughed, like a bowlful of jelly.
He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself;
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head,
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread;
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose,
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight,
"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good-night."

—C. C. MOORE.

NEW EVIDENCE GIVEN ON COLDS

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 24.—Evidence that infective germs expelled by a person's coughing and sneezing may remain alive in the air for many hours was made public to-day by Harvard scientists.

William F. Wells and Wyman R. Stone said they had produced evidence that minute droplets expelled by a person in coughing, sneezing or talking, do not fall to the floor immediately but evaporate and may leave behind infective germs which drift about for hours.

JORDAN RIVER

The annual Christmas concert was held in the B.C.E.R. Company's Social Hall on Thursday evening. Miss M. C. Martinson has returned from Port Renfrew.

"JANE EYRE" AT THE PLAYHOUSE

Virginia Bruce and Colin Clive Star; "Ladies Should Listen" Also Showing

A new style of interior decoration, which is used in "Ladies Should Listen," the Paramount film coming to the Playhouse Theatre to-day, will make its appearance to vie for popular favor with the prevalent fad of International Modernism.

Through the necessity of having to build up a character by his surroundings, Hans Dreier, art director at the Paramount studios, designed and built a suite of rooms for the film in what he calls modern rococo style.

In these rooms, the flowery ornamentation of the eighteenth century France blends with the sophisticated simplicity of the ultra-modern. In color, design and choice of furniture, this set was first conceived as a reflection of the character which Cary Grant plays in the picture.

Being shown as the second feature are Virginia Bruce and Colin Cline in "Jane Eyre."

P.O. SERVICES

On Christmas Day all wickets in the post office will be closed and the lobby will be open from 8 a.m. to 12 noon only.

All mails due to be dispatched in the afternoon will be close at 12 noon, but the evening mails will be dispatched as usual.

Only the evening collection of street letter boxes will be made.

There will be no deliveries by letter carriers or by rural mail couriers.

Strawberry Vale

St. Columba Women's auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. F. Deane-Cox, Burnside Road, on Tuesday afternoon. The routine business was conducted by Mrs. Mayfield, president.

The secretary reported that all objects for the year had been met and a small balance left with which to dispense Christmas cheer. Four junior women's auxiliary pins had been donated by the senior branch to girls meriting them.

The auxiliary will sponsor a Sunday school tea, followed by a series of moving pictures, which will be held on Tuesday evening, January 8, commencing at 8 o'clock. Proceeds to go toward the church funds.

Nomination of officers were as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. Veales; president, Mrs. Rogers; vice-president, Mrs. H. Huntington; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. M. Foster; "Living Message" secretary, Miss Brown; social service secretary, Mrs. W. M. Foster; Dorcas secretary, Mrs. F. Comley; extra cents secretary, Mrs. Deane-Cox; prayer partner, Mrs. Veales; thank offering secretary, Mrs. G. Gilham; junior women's auxiliary, Miss D. Hills.

Two delegates, Mrs. W. M. Foster, and Miss Brown, were elected to attend the diocesan board.

The annual meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Veales, Jasmine Avenue, Tuesday afternoon, January 22.

Students of the Strawberry Vale Public School held their closing ceremonies on Friday afternoon. Carols were sung and gifts from the various trees were distributed. During the afternoon the pupils presented their principal, Mr. Love, who is to be married shortly, with a handsome electric mantel clock.

VIENNA CHOIR HERE SHORTLY

It must not be supposed that the singing boys of Vienna, ranging in ages from eight to fifteen years, are an amateur organization. Their long history presupposes, of coures, a vigorous training in the traditions established when the organization was formed by the Emperor Maximilian in 1498.

These singing boys are recruited from the working classes, and before they can enroll in the organization, which is equivalent to a school, they must pass spartain examinations as to their scholastic ability and musical talents. Their number in Vienna has been limited to forty. Pitts Sanburn, critic of the New York World-Telegram, wrote of the performance of Mozart's "Bastien et Bastienne."

"The children, in wigs and costumes of the rococo period, acted and sang the little work in a very engaging manner. The unnamed youngster in red, who played the magician Colas, is already a skilful actor."

The Vienna boys will appear at the Empire Theatre in two performances on January 3.

Scottish Players Here on Wednesday

The Scottish Musical Players, whose appearance in Victoria a year ago attracted such interest, will return for a five-days' engagement commencing Wednesday. They will give two entirely new plays, in addition to repeating such international favorites as "The Bonnie Brier Bush," and "The Cotter's Saturday Night."

The company will open with a matinee on Boxing Day with "Bonnie Prince Charlie," the story of the young chevalier who came to regain the throne of the Stuarts, and the comely Highland lass, Flora Macdonald, who assisted him in his escape after defeat.

"A Highland Romance," will be given at the Saturday matinee. Mary McMahon, dramatic soprano, will be seen in her usual parts, and will play the role of the beautiful Flora Macdonald in "Bonnie Prince Charlie."

SOOKE

Charter's Hall was filled to capacity [illegible] Christmas tree entertainment provided by the Sooke Superior School. The decorations consisted of evergreens and red streamers. Charles Thompson acted as chairman. The programme consisted of various items arranged by the teachers and put on by pupils of the different grades, as follows: Song by the school, "Welcome Christmas Morn"; Christmas acrostic, Joyce Baker, Florence Syrett, Edna Pontious, Norma Stoltk, Mary Hansen, Doreen Dever, May Duncan, Alan Harwood, Lloyd Hansen, Ward Baker, Frank Planes, Bruce Baker, Henry Hansen and Pat Forrest; play, "Christmas at Finnegan's Flat," in three acts, characters, Jim Arden, Jim Pontious, Elmo Geddes, Dennis Yates, Vernon Russel, Gladys Clark, Gladys Brown, Doreen Russel, Helen Welsh, Billie Duncan, John Syrett, Stanley Cains, Louis Planes, Edwin Pontious, Irene Gettle and Jimmy Harwood; nigger boys, Dick Cains, Frank Richardson, Victor Syrett, Wilfred Strong, Richard Greenwood, Pat Welsh, Elmer Stoltk, Charlie Syrett, Teddy Dever and Donald Pontious; witches, Mary Greenwood, Alice Planes, Betty Brown, Eleanor Stoltk, Doris Thompson, Jean Duncan and Muriel Gettle; star drill, Nan Seymour, Marjory Harwood, Nora Baker, Cicely Charters, Norma Stoltk, Mary Hansen and Norma Baskerville; closing song by the school, "Santa Claus Is Coming." Miss Helen Welsh acted as accompanist and Leonard Muir was in charge of the lighting arrangements. At the close of the concert, Santa Claus arrived and distributed a present, candy and oranges to the younger children. Refreshments were served and games were played.

JOE PENNER COMING HERE

A gorgeous medley of girls, music, comedy and stirring football scenes feature Paramount's "College Rhythm!" The film opens Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre, with Joe Penner, America's favorite radio star, heading the cast in his first feature length picture.

Supported by a magnificent cast, which includes Lanny Ross, Jack Oakie, Helen Mack, Lyda Roberti and Mary Brian, "College Rhythm" introduces Penner to the film public in a hilarious story of deadly college rivals, the football star and the piccolo player, who finally agree by disagreeing and falling in love with different girls.

"Kid Millions" For Late Show

An Eddie Cantor more at home than ever on the screen in his fifth annual frolic comes to the Capitol Theatre for the midnight show tomorrow in "Kid Millions," a roving and rambling tale of adventure in search of buried treasure in Egypt.

Samuel Goldwyn has built around his banjo-eyed clown the usual opulence in setting, maids and melody. A hundred of the gorgeous Goldwyn girls sing and dance and cavort with Eddie in the shadow of the Pyramids.

Buck Jones at The Columbia

While Stanley Fields has made his mark as a villain on stage and screen, the famous "heavy" player has now turned comedian in "Rocky Rhodes," starring Buck Jones, which is now playing at the Columbia Theatre. His role of "Harp" Haverty, the Chicago near-gangster gone cowboy, is a gem of comedy and he plays it for all it is worth.

Kitsilano Band Here This Week

The Vancouver Kitsilano Boys' Band will visit Victoria this week for several concert-engagements at the Empire Theatre, according to an announcement this morning from Ralphe Calladine, manager of the Empire.

Champions at the Chicago World's Fair in 1933, Pacific Northwest champions for the last four years; Canadian champions, Toronto, 1931, the boys have added to their laurels this year by a tour of the British Isles, where the lads secured two first prizes and one second in competition [illegible] England's Bandsmen's Festival. Seattle was lifted off its feet two weeks ago by the marvellous playing of this really great band. The boys have many friends in Victoria who will be glad to see and hear them during the holiday week.

The boys will play for matinees and evening concerts on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Supporting the Kitsilano Boys on the Empire programme will be a splendid and wholesome screen entertainment. The picture, awarded four stars by the Liberty Magazine, "Here Comes the Navy," with James Cagney in the leading role.

Popular Comedians Will Appear Here

Laid in a realm where fierce feuds are as common as mammy songs, "Kentucky Kernels" brings Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey to the Dominion Theatre to-morrow in their newest comedy hit.

The popular pair are seen as two vaudeville magicians who become involved in a family feud when their ward inherits a vast Southern estate. Thus Wheeler and Woolsey inadvertently step into a busy feud with an opposing clan. When Wheeler falls in love with the daughter of the hostile leader of the enemy, Woolsey attempts to reconcile the foe. Then hilarious events are said to pyramid into a side-splitting climax.

To be shown as a second feature is "The Richest Girl in the World," a stirring romance in the golden palaces of the ultra-rich, some delightfully sugar-coated philosophy and a dash of sparkling comedy are skilfully mixed in this picture.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Warner Oland, star of "Charlie Chan in London," which is at the Capitol Theatre to-day, has been a successful actor all his life. But it was not until a few years ago, when he created the role of the smooth Chinese sleuth on the screen, that he acquired his greatest fame.

Apparently it was destined that Earl Derr Biggers should create an oriental detective who, through the pages of his novels, would win the public's fancy, and that Oland, who was born in Sweden, should so perfectly bring the shrewd, likeable Chan to life on the screen.

FOUR DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Three Passengers and Pilot Found Dead in Mountains North of Elko, Nevada

Elko, Nev., Dec. 24.—A searching party reported to-day three [illegible] and their pilot, missing since yesterday afternoon, had all been found dead in the wreckage of the plane in Owyhee Canyon, north of here.

The plane, in which Floyd Delong, the pilot, was taking two girls and a boy to their homes at Mountain City, some ninety miles north of here near the Idaho border, disappeared in blinding snow and fog yesterday.

Delong's passengers were Donald Stinton, thirteen, and his sister, June, sixteen, children of a Mountain City cattleman, and Ruth Womack, thirteen, daughter of a Mountain City resort owner.

No trace of the plane was reported after it was believed to have been heard roaring through clouds of snow and fog above Gold Creek, an hour after it was due at Mountain City. Gold Creek is thirty miles off the course.

OTHER FLIGHT

Delong's plane left Elko at 12.45 p.m. yesterday ahead of another plane piloted by Lieutenant Newton Crumley, former army flier, in which the parents of the Stinton children, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stinton, were passengers.

Lieut. Crumley went through to Mountain City. He reported no trace of the Delong plane had been seen.

The Stinton family was returning to its home after another airplane mission had failed to save the life of a son, Thomas Jewell, seventeen.

Lieut. Crumley brought the son, critically ill with pneumonia, to Elko last week so he could receive hospital care. He died and the Stintons were going home from the funeral here when the second tragedy came.

The proposed extension was the most needed development of the kind in the northwest, the member declared.

Dutch Princess May Soon Marry

Reported Juliana's Engagement to Duke of Mecklenburg Will Be Announced

London, Dec. 24.—A London Daily Express dispatch from Berlin to-day said the engagement of Juliana, crown princess of the Netherlands, and Grand Duke Fredrich Franz of Mecklenburg, would be announced in January, according to an authoritative source.

Because the court at Amsterdam is in mourning for the late Prince Consort, the story asserted, the announcement had been delayed.

NO STATEMENT

Amsterdam, Dec. 24.—Reports from London that the Netherlands is to get a New Year's surprise in the form of an announcement that its Princess Juliana is to marry the German Grand Duke Fredrich Franz met a stoney silence in official quarters today.

Those in position to know refused either to confirm or to deny the reports.

The mayor-elect also conferred with Col. J. H. McMullin, superintendent of B.C. police, but whether this had anything to do with impending changes in the Vancouver police was not announced.

THRONGS AT BETHLEHEM

Thousands of Different Denominations Attend Rites at Holy Spot

Associated Press

Bethlehem, Dec. 24.—Thousands of pilgrims, white and black and representing a score of denominations, poured into this little town in the Palestine hills to-day to observe the natal day nearly 2,000 years ago of Jesus Christ.

Many of these modern pilgrims came by automobile over the broad highway from Jerusalem, only eight miles away. It is a smoother and straighter road and the conveyances many times faster than those that were known in Herod's reign, when the woman of distant Nazareth and her carpenter-husband trudged to this little market town.

Both here and in Jerusalem tonight the air will resound to the singing of carols and ringing of bells as the age-old rites begin. The climax of services in many churches will be reached at midnight in the Church of the Nativity, built over the spot where the Holy child is believed to have been born.

THE CEREMONY

After a long mass, a procession of priests with swinging censers will take up their stand before a curtained niche in the transept. There the acting Latin Patriarch will draw aside the curtain, pick up the revealed figure of the Holy Child and conduct it to a grotto beneath the transept while the great congregation shouts "Hallelujahs."

The narrow grotto, hardly large enough for fifty persons to enter at one time, is accepted as the actual site of the manger where the Christ Child was born. Now winking candles light up the dark and all preparations have been made for the worshippers who will follow the priests there at midnight to kneel humbly and kiss the spot.

A religious fervor, becoming more distinct as night approaches, is the one mutual characteristic of the polyglot crowds swarming into Bethlehem.

MRS. PRENTICE PASSES AWAY

Was For Many Years Active Worker in St. Mark's W.A.

Mrs. Alice Martin Prentice, widow of Oliver G. Prentice, passed away yesterday at the home of her son, 2825 Dewdney Avenue, aged seventy-four years. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon, the cortege leaving Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 2 o'clock for St. Mark's Church, Boleskine Road, where Rev. O. L. Juli will conduct services at 2.15 o'clock. Interment will be in the family plot in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Mrs. Prentice was born in Cambridge, England, and is survived by one son, Oliver M., with whom she resided, and one sister, Mrs. Edwin W. Evans, in Riverton, New Jersey.

The news of Mrs. Prentice's sudden passing will come as a severe shock to a wide circle of friends. For nearly a quarter of a century she had been an energetic worker in St. Mark's parish in which she resided until recently. Her sunny helpful disposition endeared her in the hearts of all who knew her, and St. Mark's Church and Women's Auxiliary will be the poorer by the loss of a kindly, benevolent worker, who was ever willing to offer a helping hand to others.

Although in recent years she had not been able to throw herself into church activities with the same energy as she at one time did she retained the close friendships won by her life of unselfishness and thoughtfulness for others.

Besides her interest in church work she followed public affairs generally with a keen interest both in Victoria and other cities in which she had lived before coming to British Columbia.

DECIDE DEATH WAS ACCIDENT

Accidental death was the verdict of the coroner's jury which this morning investigated circumstances surrounding the death of Francis H. Randolph, 615 St. Charles Street, who died in the Jubilee Hospital on Saturday. Mr. Randolph succumbed to injuries sustained in an accident last Monday in "The Dardanelles."

Mr. Randolph was struck by a car driven by Calvert Richards, as he was walking across Fort Street. The inquest was held at Sands Mortuary. He sustained head injuries and a fracture of the left leg. He was seventy-three years old.

Funeral services were held this afternoon.

Pensioners Get Yuletide Cheque

War pensioners in Victoria got a pleasant Christmas surprise this morning. Their cheques which usually arrive at the end of the month arrived to-day instead. Accompanying the cheque was a friendly note of Christmas greeting stating that a special order-in-council had been passed to make it possible to mail the cheques earlier. "In doing so the Minister of Pensions and National Health and members of the Canadian Pension Commission and their staff hope it will be of assistance to you at this season, and send you their best wishes for a happy Christmas and a prosperous New Year," the greeting said.

PAY LAST TRIBUTE

There was a large congregation of sorrowing friends at the funeral service Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Eagle, who passed away on December 19 at her home, 234 Battleford Avenue. Rev. W. E. Daly conducted the very impressive service, during which the hymns, "Abide With Me" and "Peace, Perfect Peace," were sung. The casket was covered with many beautiful floral tribute. The following were pallbearers: J. Whittle and L. Fletcher, representing the Ancient Order of Foresters; J. Neilson, L. W. Johnson, J. H. Langford and F. Johnson. The remains were laid at rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

The newsroom staff of The Times wishes to acknowledge Christmas gifts of cigars, cigarettes and chocolates from George I. Warren, Alderman John Worthington, H. Anscomb, M.P.P., Chief Heatley and Alan Chambers.

CHURCH'S GREAT TASK OUTLINED

Canadian Press

Toronto, Dec. 24.—Stress on the church's great task during present times and an appeal for greater concentration on "the central truth of religion" came to-day from Archbishop Derwyn T. Owen, Primate of the Church of England in Canada, in a Christmas message to Anglicans throughout the Dominion. Christmas time, he said, was the period when people came to "grips" with the doctrine of God.

"Amid joys and memories, festivities and reunions of this time, pause and consider God and something of the immense implications of Christmas in this realm of the being and nature of God," the Archbishop said.

Toronto, Dec. 24 (Canadian Press). Dr. John Roderick McGregor, prominent Elora, Ont., physician, died suddenly while visiting friends here Saturday evening. A prominent sportsman, Dr. McGregor was born in Cheltenham, Ont., in 1876 and skipped the rink of Elora bowlers to the Walker Trophy and Canadian championship at Vancouver in 1907.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

IT IS WITH a feeling of apprehension that one scans Buddy Baer's record and bookings for the immediate future.

There is no doubt that the younger and larger Baer's activities gradually are revealing the 1934-35 membership of the Amalgamated Order of Resined Round Heels, yet to date the list does not include an old familiar name.

Tiny Abbott, Max Brown, Jack Petric, Gene Garner, Frank Ketter, Johnny Baker, Red Fields, Mickey McGoorty, Bob Cook, Jack Cerosky, Henry Surrette, and Gene Stanton—who ever heard of them?

It is to be hoped that Pop Hoffman merely has decided that the baby Baer is not yet ready for big league set-ups.

* * *

It really is a shame if such famous fold-uppers as Big Boy Peterson, Elizar Rioux, Cowboy Bill Owens, Man Mountain Erickson, Farmer Lodge, Jack McAuliffe II, K. O. Christner, George Cook, Pat Redmond and Knute Hansen have disappeared from the ring forever.

Surely, one or two of them will bob up on their heels again, and show the Johnny-Come-Latelys now jack-knifing before young Baer how to do the swan, the one-and-a-half, or what have you as it should be executed.

* * *

There is no question that boxing has gone 'way back, and the art of inhaling slag has disappeared with feinting and knock-out wallops. This was made quite clear in Cleveland the other night, when young Baer put a lily in the hand of McGoorty with a dirty look and a vicious swing to the shoulder blade.

As a faller, McGoorty does not even know how to get to one knee.

How the newer customers would have enjoyed some of the old-time fallers, such as Bill Squires, Fred Fulton, Lodge and Quentin Romero Rojas.

* * *

Some of the more recent fallers, such as Christner, Hansen, Peterson, and Victorio Campolo, were fairly accomplished, but none quite matched the artistry of the finest of old school

Squires was called the Australian Quince because he fell like an over-ripe one leaving the parent stem.

* * *

Fulton took nine on a scowl when he didn't fall automatically with his appearance. Lodge was awkwardly clever in falling, and so sincere. Rojas slid to the deck like an avalanche in his native Andes.

Christner was an obliging and thoroughly dependable canvas kisser, who seldom kept the folks waiting for any length of time.

Hansen slumped downward with a camp-stool effect, and the Dane's breaking his falls with his knees counted heavily against him. Peterson was a good workmanlike faller, with no frills.

Campolo went down right smartly, but made the mistake of shaking his head once all of him was on the boards. Quivering accentuates true form in falling, but a first flight faller simply does not shake his head.

Boxing right now requires many things, not the least of which is a finished group of folder-uppers.

Best laugh of the hot stove league this far was when Clark Griffith offered $100,000 for Bill Werber and $40,000 for Oral Hildebrand. Griffith would sell the entire Washington club, and throw in a quit claim deed to Griffith Stadium, for $100,000 cash, and consider himself a David Harum. Indeed, the Old Fox outstripped David when he obtained $150,000 and Lyn Lary in exchange for his son-in-law, Joe Cronin. The group of National League owners who put over nocturnal baseball will testify that a lot of whole ball clubs aren't worth that much.

Intercity Soccer Halted By Darkness

Vancouver, Dec. 24. — Saturday's regular Intercity Soccer League fixness in the second period, when St. ture was called on account of dark-Saviours had a 2 to 1 lead over Westminster Royals.

The only goal in the first period was scored by Coulter. Turner placed the ball into the Saints' net shortly before, but the goal was disallowed because Coulter was offside.

George Bradbury evened the score on a pass from his brother, Ernie, and the same combination accounted for the Saints' second goal.

Referee Murray then called the game after a discussion with Murray West and Turner, this decision causing considerable argument.

Jack McGill Scoring Star in Victories Over St. Louis and Hawks

DETROIT WINGS BEAT AMERICANS

Those few who had already counted Montreal Canadiens out of the National Hockey League race took another look at the standings to-day, and decided to withhold judgment until more returns are in.

For the Habitants showed a flash of their old-time "Flying Frenchmen" form over the week-end, and, taking games from St. Louis and Chicago, jumped right from the Canadian section cellar into third place, just two points behind Montreal Maroons.

The Montrealers' bright showing highlighted an N.H.L. week-end packed with six games and almost as many surprises. Not only did the Habitants beat the world champion Hawks 4 to 1 yesterday evening after handing St. Louis a 2 to 1 defeat the night before, but New York Rangers humbled Montreal Maroons 2 to 1, and Boston knocked over Detroit 4 to 3 to hold on to second position in the United States section.

Toronto Leafs' 1 to 0 win over Chicago at Toronto Saturday was more to be expected, but they had to wait until the second last minute of the game before Hec Kilrea passed to Harvey Jackson for the only tally. After losing Saturday Detroit beat New York Americans 2 to 1 yesterday evening in the sixth game played.

MCGILL IS STAR

Jack McGill, the left winger Leo Dandurand brought up from McGill University's team, starred in the Canadiens' two victories, scoring the winning goal against Eagles and two of their four counters against Chicago.

Hawks had served up the fastest game of the Toronto season Saturday night with Tiny Thompson, Boston, and Lorne Chabot, Chicago.

The game was a rough affair, twenty penalties being handed out. Bill Kendall was serving one for tripping when Jackson scored the goal that sent 14,000 fans home happy.

LONDON TECS BOOST LEAD

Leaders in International Hockey League Turn Back Detroit 2 to 1

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 24.—Eddie Power's Syracuse Stars carried the heavy end of the International League hockey schedule over the week-end and although they registered a last period victory over Buffalo Bisons they also dropped a game to Cleveland which prevented them from jumping into a second place tie with Windsor and Detroit.

London Tecs took a 2 to 1 fall out of last place Detroit Olympics in overtime with the net result they stretched their lead to six points at the top of the league.

Showing unexpected power Cleveland whipped Syracuse, 5 to 1, in the former city Saturday night. Syracuse did a little scoring on its own account, popping in a pair in the last period to edge out a 3 to 1 victory over Mickey Roach's Bisons.

MISS DEWAR OUTSTANDING

Moose Jaw Swimming Star Voted Canada's Leading Woman Athlete of 1934

Toronto, Dec. 24.—Regardless of what the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation will have to say on the subject shortly, Canada's outstanding woman athlete in 1934 was Phyllis Dewar, "the mermaid of the plains," in the view of more than two-fifths of sports editors participating in a Canadian Press poll.

The newspaper critics lauded the swimming accomplishments of the eighteen-year-old Moose Jaw, Sask., girl, holder of four British Empire Games gold medals, in returning her victory over starry track and field athletes and golfers. She succeeds Ada Mackenzie, Toronto, 1933's outstanding woman athlete by virtue of her win victories in the national golfing championships.

When Miss Mackenzie was losing both her open and close titles this year and Canada's track and field forces were being humbled consistently at the Empire Games, Miss Dewar was writing new swimming history for this country. Nationally, she was unknown a year ago.

POPULAR CHOICE

Sports editors voted firmly in favor of the Moose Jaw flier. She received twenty-five of the thirty-seven votes cast. Seven went to Aileen Meagher, Halifax, 220-yard sprint star who placed second in her event at the Empire Games and was a big factor in Canada's only winning relay effort on the track.

Single votes were cast for Hilda Strike, Montreal sprinter who was voted the outstanding woman athlete of the year in 1932; Betty Taylor, Hamilton, Ont., crack hurdler; Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser, Ottawa, Canadian women's open golf champion; Margery Kirkham, Montreal golfer, and Irene Pirie.

Blue Ribbons In Overtime Victory

Come Through in Extra Time to Whip Seattle Union Oil 35 to 32 in Thrilling Intercity Exhibition Basketball Tilt

Crashing their opponents' defence for seven points during the five minutes of overtime, Victoria's Blue Ribbons chalked up their second victory in three starts against United States basketball teams when they handed the flashy Union Oil of Seattle a 35 to 32 defeat before a packed gallery at the Victoria High School gymnasium Saturday evening.

The Ribbons displayed a complete reversal of form over their last miserable showing of last week, when they bowed to the Seattle De Molays and astounded the fans with their exhibition of fighting courage and determination. The visitors lived up to advance reports and fielded a well-balanced team of ball handlers. Much of the credit for the win went to young Doug Peden, who turned in the best game of his brief career as a basketball player. Doug was the spark plug of the Ribbons' offence throughout the whole game, and, although he was playing a defensive position he walked off the floor with fourteen well-earned points.

Art Chapman, who has been out of the game for a number of weeks through injuries, flashed some of his old-time form and was in there full of fight for over forty minutes. It was his basket, with four minutes to go, that sent the game into overtime.

PLAY IS FAST

Victoria opened with a dash into their opponent's territory. Passing the ball around with lightning rapidity, Art Chapman faked Martin's pass to score from under. Peden repeated seconds later as he also faked a nice pass near the foul line to sink an over-hand push shot. It was a very smooth piece of play that completely fooled the Seattle defence. The visitors took time out after three minutes of play. On the resumption, Le Voff took the centre tip-off to loop in a shot from the blue line. After Chuck Chapman missed Ainslee's foul Murphy tapped in a rebound to tie the score at 4 to 4. A beautiful play from C. Chapman to A. Chapman to Peden on a tip-off play was good for a couple of points.

Murphy came back to even the count with a one-hander from the foul line. Ainslee put the Oilers in the lead for the first time by sinking C. Chapman's foul. Tearing down the right wing, Art Chapman sent a long one-hander sizzling through the hoop. Andrews replaced McKeachie. Chuck Chapman increased the Ribbon's lead with a nice looper from the wing, and then Andrews went through unassisted to make it 12 to 7. Ainslee scored from the foul line on a fake and Le Voff sent in two free throws to end the scoring for the first quarter at 12 to 10 for the Ribbons.

SECOND QUARTER

Martin slipped up on two free throws to open the second quarter, but Peden made Art Chapman's pass good with a long shot. Once again Seattle took time out and McKeachie went in for Martin. Ainslee scored from the tip-off, but Peden again brought the fans to their feet as he fought through to score from under. Art Chapman made it 18 to 12 on Peden's pass.

Four minutes from the half, things began to happen and the Ribbons almost let the game slip away from them as the Oilers went on a scoring splurge that netted them ten points without a reply, to put them four points in the lead. Victoria made the mistake of not calling time out until almost too late and the half found Seattle riding on the crest of a 22 to 18 lead.

Chuck Chapman opened the third quarter with a shot from the wing, but Le Voff scored on A. Chapman's foul. Cruickshanks made it 25 to 20. Doug Peden came to the rescue with a timely basket on a pass from A. Chapman and Seattle took its third and final time out, as Thompson went into the game for Murphy. Art tapped in Andrew's rebound and for some minutes the teams battled with only one point separating them at 25 to 24 for Union Oil.

FOURTH QUARTER

Peden put the Ribbons in the lead at the start of the fourth and final quarter on a beautiful spinner play, but Le Voff tied the score at 26 to 26 with a free throw. Seconds later the same player faked a pass to score but with less than four minutes to go Art Chapman made the count 28 to 28. The game was held up for a few minutes when Wright was knocked out as he collided with Doug Peden. Andrews missed a free throw that would have won the game just at the bell.

The Ribbons' fine physical condition played an important part in the overtime period. Art Chapman opened with a long one-hander from the wing and the crowd went wild. Le Voff missed his first free throw of the game when fouled by McKeachie. Peden completed a good night's work by sinking two free throws to put the Ribbons four points up. Foster scored one minute from time, but McKeachie put the game on ice with a free shot. Andrews took A. Chapman's pass to register from under. Seattle was awarded a basket with seconds to go as Chuck Chapman touched the hoop in trying to clear.

Regents displayed very little interest in their game against the Canadian Scottish and dropped a 28 to 20 decision to the cellar club. As the intermediate "A" section winner has already been declared, the game had no bearing on the standing.

Kingham-Gillespie had rather an easy time humbling the Black-Hawks 35 to 22 in another boys' intermediate "A" game.

M'SPADEN IS GOLF WINNER

Captures Pasadena Open Tournament With 72-Hole Score of 281

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 24.—Despite a shaky finish, Harold McSpaden, sturdy professional of Kansas City, Kansas, yesterday won the Pasadena open golf tournament with its first prize of $1,000, shooting 70-67-71-73—281.

Tied for second place were Ted Longworth, Portland, Ore., and Dick Metz, youthful Chicago professional, with 286 totals, five strokes back of the twenty-six-year-old Kansan. They shared $1,000. Representing Canada, Lex Robson of Toronto, shot beautifully steady golf for three rounds, then blew slightly. His total of 296 was made up of rounds of 73, 72, 73, 78.

John Revolta, Milwaukee, staggered home with a 76, his second of the day, and dropped far behind. Charles Guest, the other pro within striking distance, who pulled himself up into a tie for the lead with a sensational 66 Saturday, finished with 76 and a 77 yesterday for 290 strokes.

St. Louis, Dec. 24.—George Patterson, right-wing and centre, who came to St. Louis Eagles National League hockey team on option recently, was sent back to Detroit Red Hawks yesterday. The Eagles' manager, George Boucher, made the announcement.

Huskies Defeated By Trojan Cagers

Seattle, Dec. 24. — University of Southern California Trojans raced to a 40 to 24 win Saturday evening over the Washington Huskies, evening up their two-game pre-season series. The triumph may be costly, as Lee Gutterd, Trojans' star centre, injured his leg in the last few minutes of play and was carried from the floor. Washington won last night, 39 to 30.

Seven Football Players Injured

Luke and Richardson, Huddersfield, and Reading Goalie Hurt in English League Matches Saturday; Scottish League Race Tightens Up

London, Dec. 24.—Leaders of the first division in the English Football League, embarked on the toughest schedule of the year, today faced the rest of the week with some cause for gloom. All were beaten in Saturday's Games.

Sunderland retained top place in the standing despite a 3 to 2 beating from Liverpool. The team's defeat came as a surprise after it had a lead of 2 to 1 at half time on goals by Gallacher and Gurney. Wright got Liverpool's first goal and Weight and Hanson followed in the second half.

Arsenal also started ahead, but took a 3 to 1 beating from Derby County. The Gunners were in the lead 1 to 0 at half time on Bowden's goal scored from a throw-in. Stockhill scored twice for the Derby and Gallacher, former Chelsea player, got their other goal. Arsenal played a game that was mainly defensive. The team stayed in second place.

Wolverhampton scored a 5 to 0 victory over Manchester City at home after running in four goals before half time. Wrigglesworth scored twice and Hartill, Hollingsworth and Jones once each.

LUKE INJURED

Stoke City downed Huddersfield with 4 to 1 in a patchy game. Stoke opened the scoring with a goal by Sale, but Luke replied for Huddersfield to the score before the interval. Huddersfield was without the services of Luke, who was injured in the second half, while Richardson also was limping. Sale, Davies and Liddle scored in the second frame.

Aston Villa and Blackburn Rovers played a 1 to 1 tie. During a melee a Blackburn player was struck and knocked down. It could not be seen who struck the blow, but it was believed league officials would investigate the incident.

Thompson opened the scoring for Blackburn and Waring, Villans's centre forward got the evener.

Brentford's 2 to 1 victory over Sheffield United kept the team in the lead of the second divison by a small fraction. Fletcher and Hopkins gave Brentford its goals before half time and Boyd got the loser's single. Newcastle United looked like a first division team as it downed Burnley 3 to 0 with a skillful attack and a rock-like defence.

Charlton Athletic held onto top place in the southern section of the third division by a 3 to 1 victory over the second place Reading team. Reading scored first when Talt banged in a ground shot, but Harris equalized before the half-way mark. Reading lost its goalkeeper in the second half when he had to retire with a twisted knee. His place was taken by the right back. Hibbis and Wilkinson completed Charlton's score.

Tranmere Rovers stayed in top spot of the northern section after playing a scoreless draw with fourth-place Chester. It was a dull game.

Glasgow, Scotland, Dec. 24.—Rangers to-day clung to a slim lead at the top of the Scottish Football League's first division as the race became tighter than it has been for years. Only two points separated the first six clubs in the league's standing and only goal averages stood between the first three.

All six of the top teams won their games Saturday. Rangers smashed the lowly Dunfermline 6 to 1, Hearts downed Falkirk 4 to 1, Hamilton Academicals took Hibernians 2 to 1, Celtic came through with a 3 to 2 victory over Kilmarnock, St. Johnstone was on the long end of a 4 to 0 score with St. Mirren, and Aberdeen downed Partick Thistles 3 to 0.

Celtic went two goals up in the first fifteen minutes and Kilmarnock failed to recover. Paterson opened the scoring with a penalty goal and the two O'Donnells got one apiece, while Robertson and Beattie scored for Kilmarnock.

YOUNG FRONT LINE

Rangers trounced Dunfermline with a forward line believed the youngest they have ever used. Gillick, given a trial at outside right, was the big success of the game as at least five goals came from his accurate crosses.

Smith scored four of the goals and McAulay, Meiklejohn and Gillick one each. The eighth came when Crawford scored on his own goal. Dunfermline's single came off a penalty kick.

Armstrong scored two of Aberdeen's three goals and Benyon the other in a game that saw Aberdeen score an easier victory over Partick Thistle than the score indicated.

Dundee continued its steady playing and downed Albion Rovers 2 to 1 at Coatbridge. Coats scored both Dundee's goals in a victory that was narrow but earned. Bruce got Rovers' goal from a penalty shot.

Johnstone's three goals and Carroll's two gave Clyde a comfortable 5 to 1 win over Ayr United, for whom Fitzgerald scored a single. Hamilton Academicals, playing at home, had keen competition from Hibernians, who played sound football. The homesters, however, had the edge and held the lead they got from Wilson's and King's goals. Black scored for the visitors.

Perry Drops Fourth Match

Sydney, N.S.W., Dec. 24.—The disastrous invasion of Australia by Fred Perry, England, ranked as the world's leading amateur tennis player, continued to-day when he was beaten by Christian Boussus, France, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Play was in a three-nation match between British, French and Australian players. Three Australians have defeated Perry in less than a month.

NANAIMO IN BITTER WIN

Defeat St. Andrews 4 to 2 in Intercity League Soccer; Knight Sent Off Field

Nanaimo, Dec. 24.—Scoring three goals in a great last half rally, Nanaimo City yesterday advanced into a first place tie with Vancouver Rangers, as they polished off St. Andrews, 4 to 2, in their inter-city soccer league tussle. Nanaimo had only ten men on the field when they scored the three goals.

Anything but the Christmas spirit abounded in the match, which was acclaimed by 1,200 fans as the finest of the season. Hips, feet and even fists were used by opposing players to stop either man or ball. Jimmy Knight, stellar Nanaimo halfback, went to the showers early in the second half for attempting to cauliflower Alcock's ear.

Knight would have left the field anyway, a badly twisted knee putting him out of commission, just before he swung at the visiting player.

The Rothweiler-Nestman combination bore fruit four minutes after play opened, the latter scoring with a low drive that skimmed off the full-back's shoe tops.

SCORE FROM PENALTY

Referee Jack Smart was taken to task by the Scots when he awarded a penalty against Findler for handling in the forbidden area. Grev scored from the shot, knotting the count.

Three minutes from half time Alcock put St. Andrews ahead once more, with a beautiful header on Rothweiler's flag kick.

Soon after the change over, Knight was put out of commission. As he lay on the ground, Alcock approached him. Jimmy immediately jumped to his feet and threw a few punches at his opponent before players separated them. He was carried from the field.

At the ten-minute mark, Jimmy Tantrum notched a wonderful goal as Rabbitt dove across the goal in a vain attempt to stop his drive from the eighteen-yard line.

The same player nudged the goalie enough, eleven minutes later, to put Rabbitt off balance as he tried to punch clear a high lob from Thompson. The ball skidded off his knuckles into the net, giving the City the lead for the first time during the struggle.

Tantrum arched another shot past Rabbitt, with fourteen minutes to go, to complete the scoring.

New York Rangers Get Harold Starr

Montreal, Dec. 24.—Two members of Windsor Bull Dogs team of the International Hockey League were withdrawn from that club during the week-end by Montreal Maroons of the National League, which had lent the players.

Harold Starr, hard-hitting defenceman, was sold to New York Rangers, manager T. P. Gorman of Maroons announced, while Sammy McManus, speedy wing man, was recalled by Maroons.

Esquimalt Wins Cup Soccer Tilt

Defeats Victoria City 4 to 1 in Leeming Cup Competition; Dockers Prove Better Mudders; Will Meet Wests Or Thistles in Final

Playing on a field that would have been an ideal spot for ducks to frolic around, Esquimalt defeated Victoria City 4 to 1 in the semi-final of the Leeming Cup football series at the Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon. With only a handful of the faithful in attendance the Dockers turned in a smart performance to eliminate the redshirts and advance to the final. Esquimalt will meet the winner of the Victoria West-Saanich Thistles engagement in the deciding encounter to decide possession of the trophy.

Trotting out an eleven strengthened by the addition of Ab. March at left fullback, Ivan Sweeney at right half and a revamped forward line, the Dockers were just too good for the City. On the ninety minutes' play Esquimalt were the better team and their three-goal margin was a fair indication of the trend of play. March and Sweeney, turning out after long lay-offs, performed well. The former cleared well and used his head to break up many City attacks. Sweeney fed his forwards in great fashion with neat short passes and held down George Payne, crack outside left of the city.

Opening the game with only eight men, the City were forced on the defence in the first few minutes but came close to scoring on a quick breakaway. Gibbons scooted down the right wing and crossed perfectly into the Esquimalt goalmouth, but Harry Youson and Jack Payne were unable to get their boots to the ball with only DeCosta to beat.

TWO QUICK GOALS

Hodgson, Robbins and Stofer arrived to bring the City to full strength. Esquimalt continued to put on the pressure and forced two corner kicks. After seven minutes the Dockers went into the lead, which they never lost. Moore, City right half, handled the ball just outside the penalty area. McBay's kick was taken by John Watt, who passed to Scotty Stewart, and the inside right flicked the ball past Rowe in the City goal. Only fifteen minutes had elapsed when McBay kick made it 2 to 0. Mail converting a pass from Barnswell after Watt had crossed from the right wing.

The City rallied and after repeated attacks on the Esquimalt goal, managed to net their only counter, Jack Payne booting home a pass from Brother George. Louis DeCosta, Esquimalt goalie, was out of position on the shot, having come out of his net expecting a shot from George Payne. Rowe made a clever play when he fumbled a hard shot from Watt and threw behind the line when rushed by Mail.

BARNSWELL SCORES

With the start of the second half, Moody went to right half for the City in place of Smith. Jack Payne missed an open net after DeCosta had sprawled full-length to block a shot from George Payne. Esquimalt got their fourth goal when Barnswell slipped the ball into the net after Rowe had come out to meet him. Rowe made two great saves on shots from Wagland. With the end of the game drawing near the players tired under the heavy going. The final whistle saw no change in the score.

At the conclusion Rowe was covered from head to foot in mud.

Bill Cull refereed.

P. Burbridge Is Bowling Winner

The Britannia branch, Canadian Legion, Target Bowling League for 1934, will officially close with the presentation of prizes to players to-night by Comrade J. Simpson, president of the league.

Greater interest has been shown this year, and while P. Burbridge for the second year in succession was crowned champion, the issue was in doubt for a time, and close games were registered by Simpson and Pearson, who tied for second place.

Simpson was leader in 1932, while Burbridge was leader in 1933 and 1934. Comrade Simpson has donated each year a silver medal, suitably inscribed, for the yearly leader. The highest score possible in twelve league games is 3,024.

SENTENCE IS COMMUTED

Violette Noziere, Condemned to Death in Paris, to Serve Life Term

Associated Press

Paris, Dec. 24.—President Albert Lebrun commuted to life imprisonment to-day the sentence to the guillotine of Violette Noziere, nineteen-year-old convicted slayer of her father, as a result of her mother's appeal for clemency.

Testimony at the trial was to the effect that Violette had poisoned her father and attempted to dispose of her mother in the same fashion in order to secure an inheritance.

In the first stages of the trial Mme. Noziere was one of the most bitter witnesses against her daughter, but later she relented and they were reconciled.

Violette based her defence on charges that her father had mistreated her from childhood and forced her to live a life of shame. She was a familiar figure in the gay night life of the Montparnasse section of Paris.

Christmas Songs

by Aline Michaelis

Only of love are Earth's songs today,
Only of love and peace;
Streams are ice-bound and skies are gray,
Yet have we found release
Now from the prisons where we dwelt,
Prisons of fear and dread,
All the doubts which so long we felt
Now from our thoughts have fled!

Only the wonderful Christ-Child's name
Sounds on all lips again,
Telling the story of how He came
Out of His love for men!
Telling the story that makes this day
Brighter than all the rest;
How in the manger the Christ-Child lay,
Snug on His mother's breast.
Only of love are the day's refrains,
Anthems that will not cease;
Ever are souls where the Christ-Child reigns
Singing of love and peace!

Ten Year Chase Gives Navy Cup

Sailors Win Barnard Trophy Emblematic of City Senior Rugby Championship After Campaign of One Decade; Gunners Down Scottish

Down the bumpy road of Victoria's senior rugby the Navy tramped for ten years to reach their goal on the rain-soaked Admirals Road pitch on Saturday. For a decade the sailors have tried for the Barnard Cup, emblematic of the senior oval ball-carrying championship of Victoria. It was theirs to-day. Saturday they muddied through to an 11 to 3 verdict over the Garrison in the final game of the second half.

In the other senior game of the day Fifth Brigade beat the Canadian Scottish 12 to 0 at Macdonald Park. Wanderers defaulted to the Bays.

As the result of the Admirals Road encounter, the tars wound up their scheduled games without a defeat. They have been held to a draw but once during the season.

SMART TRY

Opening against a Garrison team composed of only thirteen men, the sailors set up an early lead when Chuck Sweet went over just three minutes from the start. His try came after a pretty run in which almost all the Navy three line handled. Barker missed the kick for extra points.

The sailors came right back from the kick-off, but the Garrison held firm and finally forced into the Navy ground. The tars pushed back to their thirty-five-yard line, where Barker picked up and smashed his way through to the Tommies' twenty-five. He passed to Stagg, who gained and gave the ball to Sweet. Sweet went over at the corner and again the kick failed. The try came about five minutes after the initial score.

The Garrison worked down on kicks but could not penetrate the Navy defence. Nixon finally cleared with a nice kick, but the Tommies came back.

The soldiers kept hammering away on the Navy twenty-five but could not break through.

The Navy forwards broke back as the half closed. Shortly after the opening F. Pocock joined the Garrison side to bring the team up to fourteen men.

Early in the second half Sinclair was forced from the game with an injury to his eye and the teams were even in size.

After an opening attack by the Navy, the Garrison swung back and pressed.

FINAL NAVY CONTRIBUTION

Briggs led the sailors down on a dribble to the Tommies' ground, where they gained a scrum close to the line. Hall broke fast from the pack and, aided by a Garrison fumble, got the ball over for the sailors' last try. Bert Barker added the extra points to make the count read 11 to 0.

Two minutes later the Garrison stormed down. Robinson was stopped before he had a chance to clear near his own line and Stagg passed a little wildly when Robinson gave him the ball. Putnam attempted to fly kick it into touch as it was relayed, but the Garrison broke through, Buxton kicking over and streaking across to score the Tommies' only try.

Freeman was hurt shortly after and was forced to retire. Neither team showed much rugby as the game closed.

Bill Derbyshire refereed and the teams lined up as follows:

Navy—Robinson, Bamfield, Sweet, Smith, Putnam, Stagg, Freeman, Swetnam, Corbin, Rutherford, Hall, Sinclair, Barker, Nixon and Briggs.

Garrison—Featherstone, Hall, Patterson, Clarke, Smale, Eastick, Ley, Martin, Buxton, Polinsky, Snow, F. Pocock, Chaplin, S. Pocock.

GUNNERS WIN

Held to only one try in the first half, Fifth Brigade ran over three more in the second to gain their 12 to 0 verdict over the Canadian Scottish. The game was fairly ragged, with the gunners' backfield showing occasional form and their forwards completely beating the Highlanders.

About twenty minutes from the start of the game Peden scored on a forward dribble to give the artillerymen their only count of the half.

Eight minutes from the resumption of play, Fleming went over after a nice thirty-five-yard run down the centre of the field.

Peden gained another counter when he completed another forward rush by falling on the ball.

The last try of the day came at the end of a good Fifth Brigade forward movement when Engleson took the ball over the line and Peden touched it down for his third and the team's fourth try to make the score read 12 to 0.

No converts were kicked.

The Scottish could not seem to get going throughout the encounter and although Jack Bankes and some of the forwards turned in good performances, the pack was no match for the gunners.

On their occasional runs the Fifth's backfield gained good yardage, while Roddy McInnes turned in a smart performance at fullback.

Aubrey Walls handled the whistle and the teams follow:

Fifth Brigade—McInnis, Phillipsen, Simpson, Rowe, Gaunt, Fleming, Stipe, Ingleson, Gray, De Blaquire, Peden, Doswell, Eastham, Rogerson and Stewart.

Scottish Regiment—Colgate, Holland, Stursberg, Tisdale, Lytton, Tye, Billingsley, Gardner, Thompson, Knight, Doswell, Rowland, George, Acland and Bankes.

In the Intermediate League, Wanderers' Blues shut out their brother team, the Whites, 14 to 0, at Oak Bay Park, while Canadian Scottish, with only thirteen men, set back the Fifth Brigade 8 to 0 at Work Point.

Ronnie McConnan kicked a penalty goal and converted Fisher's try to give the Blues an 8 to 0 lead at half time and Barber and Bryden each scored once in the second half to complete the count.

Speed gained a try, which Forbes converted to start the Scottish on their victorious way. H. Anderson added another try to the total.

RETAIL SHOWS IMPROVEMENTS

Fifty-four of Sixty-two Canadian Cities Report Increases Over Last Year

The buying public, for the third consecutive month, is reported as paying retail bills more promptly and to be buying more from the retail stores, in the monthly survey for November of retail credit sales and collections, compiled by the research division of the National Retail Association, just received by the secretary of the local Credit Grantors' Association.

Sales on credit for November are reported as 14.6 per cent higher than November, 1933, while retail collections are 9.0 per cent higher for the same period. These continued month-after-month increases indicate that the public in general is buying more freely and has greater confidence in the future. Most important, they show that recovery is actually under way, as retail business is the "nation's barometer."

Of the sixty-two cities reporting, representing 18,000 retailers, fifty-four show increases in collections, five report decreases, three "no change." In sales on credit, thirty-six report increases, only one reports a decrease, two report no change.

Credit sales in Canada are still on the increase, while collections are reported as "fairly good." In Ontario, Hamilton reports an increase of 9.1 per cent in collections and 11.6 per cent in credit sales, while in London collections are up 20.0 per cent and credit sales 19.0 per cent better. In British Columbia, Victoria reports collections off 2.0 per cent, credit sales up 7.0 per cent. Winnipeg reports no change in collections, but good credit sales, 19.0 per cent higher than in November, 1933.

Bradian and Bralorne Jump At Vancouver

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Dec. 24.—Bradian and Bralorne continued the most improved issues at the close of the half-day session of the Vancouver stock exchange to-day. Bradian closed with an increase of 55 cents to $2.55, and Bralorne finished up over $1 at $13. Both increases were due to reports of a strike at the property of the Bradian mine.

Reno was also better, trading with an advance of 4 cents at $1.18. B.R.X. came out for a gain of one point, closing at 19.

Winnipeg Wheat Is Down Fractionally

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Dec. 24.—Traders, looking forward to a two-day holiday over Christmas, paid little attention to the market to-day. Wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange closed the quietest session in weeks, ¼c higher.

Futures fluctuated within a ½c price range, and delivery of 463,000 bushels of cash against the maturing December contract had no bearish effect on the market. December closed at 78c, May 82⅞c and July 83⅝c.

Cash and coarse grains were similarly dull. Values generally held steady.

The exchange will be closed tomorrow, Christmas Day, and on Wednesday, in observance of Boxing Day.

Associated Press

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Evening-up of accounts, so as to prepare for the Christmas holiday, helped about general firmness to-day in the grain markets.

Wheat closed uneven, ⅛c off to ⅜c up, compared with Saturday's finish. May 99¼c to 99⅜c, corn ¾c to ⅞c advanced, May 88⅜c to 88½c, oats at ⅛c to ½c gain and provisions showing a rise of 30c to 45c.

TORONTO PRODUCE

Toronto, Dec. 24. — Wholesale produce prices:

Eggs—Grade A, large, dozen 28c.
Churning cream—No. 1, lb., 21c.
Butter—No. 1 solids, lb., 21c.

Associated Press

New York, Dec. 24.—Financial markets were of the customary Christmas texture to-day and, while holiday spirits were moderately cheerful, there was no rush to buy.

After a fairly active opening, equities trading settled down to a rather dull jog and prices milled about indecisively.

Among Canadian stock, McIntyre and International Nickel were virtually even. Lake Shore was steady, but Hiram Walker got down nearly a point. Dominion Government bonds were narrow and quiet.

American Telephone got up a point and Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey and Western Union were a trifle improved. American Can moved up a point to another new year's high.

Douglas Aircraft pushed higher on announcement that the war department had placed a large order with this company.

INDUSTRIALS SESSION DULL

Associated Press

Toronto, Dec. 24.—Cutting to-day's session down to 2½ hours to give brokerage staffs time to do their Christmas shopping, the Toronto exchange staged a slow performance.

Ford A gained ¼ to 28¼ and Nickel was up ⅛ to 22¾. C.P.R. was off ⅛. Walkers' common at 24¼ was down ¾ and Distillers Seagrams weakened ⅛ to 13⅞. Industrial Alcohol A gained a small fraction.

Massey Harris at 4½ was up a half point. Gypsum and Canada cement improved about ⅛ each.

BOND MARKET CLOSE QUIET

Associated Press

New York, Dec. 24. — There was no indication of a last-minute rush of investors into the bond market to do some Christmas purchasing to-day. The list was quiet.

Several foreign loans moved to lower levels under small transactions. Japanese 5½s were off 1½ points at 80½, while German, Polish and Argentine issues gave up fractions.

WILL NOT LIST UNREGISTERED

Canadian Press

Quebec, Dec. 24. — The Montreal Curb market has consented not to list for trading stock in unregistered mining companies, W. Amyot, K.C., registrar under the Quebec Security Frauds Prevention Act, announced yesterday.

BAR GOLD

London, Dec. 24.—Bar gold declined ⅛d to 140s 8d. (U.S. equivalent $34.78 on basis of sterling opening at $4.94½.)

Montreal, Dec. 24.—Bar gold in London funds: 140s 8d in British funds. The fixed $35 Washington price amounted to $34.67 in Canadian.

Net profits, after appropriations to contingent reserve, amounted to $935,823 compared with $907,350. Quickly realizable assets were equal to 69.86 per cent of liabilities to the public compared with 64.59 per cent in 1933. They amounted to $79,985,800, up some $6,000,000.

Santa Claus Reports Business Boom, Thanks to Stamp Collectors' Aid

Santa Claus must be all things to all people.

To the kids, Santa Claus is the jolly saint who brings them secretly everything their little hearts desire. To mother, Santa Claus is just a big dinner to be prepared for the whole family. To pa, sometimes, Santa Claus is a pain in the neck. To 1,200 Hoosiers, Santa Claus is home.

But to the growing number of dyed-in-the-wool philatelists (stamp collectors to you), Santa Claus is an item.

You have heard of Santa Claus Inc., the little crossroads hamlet that rises each year to a peak of temporary fame and rushing postal business at the holiday season and then slumps off for the remainder of a humdrum year.

But did you know that if it were not for stamp-collectors, perhaps there would not be any Santa Claus?

NAME CHANGE HAPPY IDEA

Santa Claus, situated deep in rural southern Indiana, was founded long before the Civil War under the name of Santa Fe. In 1858, the residents began to think it would be nice to have mail delivery, and they applied for establishment of a postoffice.

The application was rejected, however, because there already was another office named Santa Fe in northern Indiana. This rejection was received only a few weeks before Christmas.

They had to think fast—Christmas, Santa Claus, Santa Fe — so they dropped the Fe, substituted Claus, and submitted a new application under the name of Santaclaus (one word). It was accepted.

So for sixty-eight years the town went inconspicuously along as Santaclaus. In 1926 an enterprising Los Angeles stamp collector changed all that. He got an idea.

STAMP FAN STARTS IT

He wrote to Postmaster James F. Martin, sending a letter to be mailed back to him from Santaclaus and thus canceled with the Yule postmark. It was the first such request Martin had had.

But the Californian went farther. He suggested that if the name of the town could be changed to two words, Santa Claus, that would raise the temperature of all good stamp collectors, and might mean business for the town.

Postmaster Martin, being a stamp collector himself, saw the point, and wrote to Postmaster-General Harry New, an Indianan, asking the change. New also saw the point, and Santaclaus became Santa Claus, Ind.

When the next edition of the Postal Guide carried the change, a flood of mail designed to secure samples of this unique postal marking began to rise, and it has never subsided. Ever since 1931 it has been necessary to put on a large extra force of clerks to handle the hundreds of thousands of letters.

The mass production of post marks became by long odds the biggest business of Santa Claus.

In 1932 business was so heavy that the postoffice at Santa Claus was raised from fourth class to third class, and all the latest equipment installed, including an electric canceling machine.

Some time ago a move was started to change the name, but it was promptly buried under a perfect avalanche of protests from governors, senators, representatives, mayors, national organizations, and stamp collectors. It was abandoned.

Lord Greystoke, unfolding the scrap of paper which had been pushed in under the cabin door, found it was a message printed in uncouth letters, warning them to refrain from reporting the theft of his revolvers, on pain of death. Lady Greystoke paled, wondering what her fate might be.

The [illegible] which met Lord Greystoke's eyes, as he emerged on deck the next morning, confirmed his worst fears. A shot rang out, and then another and another. Facing the little knot of five officers was the entire motley crew of the Fulwalda, and at their head stood Black Michael.

Enraged, the bloodthirsty ruffians charged the officers representing the hated authority of the ship. Most of them were armed with boathooks, axes and crowbars. The officers retreated before the infuriated rush of their men. An axe cleft the captain from forehead to chin.

[illegible] were coming and swearing in a frightful manner, which, together with the reports of the firearms and the screams and groans of the wounded, turned the deck of the Fulwalda to the likeness of a madhouse. Short and grisly had been the work of the mutineers.

[illegible] apprehensive, for he feared for the safety of his wife, and the little unborn Greystoke at the hands of the ignorant half-brutes. "Here's two more for the fishes," snarled one of the crew, as he rushed toward them with uplifted axe.

The Gumps

When Is Uncongeniality An Offence?

Dorothy Dix

Says: When Practiced By Husband Or Wife

A LARGE proportion of divorces are granted on the ground of mental cruelty. Husbands and wives get upon each other's nerves with their little habits and mannerisms. A wife cannot bear the way her husband gargles his soup. A husband is bored to tears by his wife's babbling. The party of the first part has to live in Washington on account of his business. The party of the second part prefers to live in California. A married couple have not the same tastes in politics or pie. John Sprat can eat no fat, his wife can eat no lean. And these differences of temper and temperament are alleged to inflict such sufferings upon men and women that it entitles them to break their marriage vows, wreck their homes, and half-orphan their children.

It must surprise many a good, kind, generous man who has never raised his hand to his wife save to bestow gifts upon her to find himself accused of being a brute who has mentally beaten her black by not wanting to step out to a night club after a hard day's work. Equally it must be amazing to many a woman who has spent twenty-five or thirty years slaving for her husband and catering to all his whims to discover that she has inflicted agonies not to be borne on him by getting fat and middle-aged.

But such are the risks that married couples face in these days when their spouses can drag them into the divorce court for assault and battery mentally committed, and who never know whether they are giving a good performance as husband or wife, or are pinch-hitting for a torturer.

But the mental cruelty divorce charge, which gets away with mental murder, causes one to wonder about many things. One is, why people are so much more critical of those to whom they are married than they are of any one else? The only human beings in the world who are expected to be perfect, without fault or blemish, are husbands and wives. We take our families, our friends, our acquaintances as they are, and, if they make good on a reasonable number of the qualities we like and admire, we are satisfied.

"Oh, well, you can't have everything," we say philosophically. And overlook Mary's temper because she is so kind and put up with John's being a bit of a deadbeat because he is such good company, but we don't strike any such general average with our mates.

A man feels that he is defrauded if his wife does not possess every virtue. He wants her to be handsome and showy and a swell dresser and domestic and thrifty. He wants a parlor ornament and a kitchen utensil. And women are equally unreasonable in their demands. They expect their husbands to be patient, domestic beasts of burden and dashing men of the world, to be romantic lovers and practical business men, gigolos and go-getters. And when husbands and wives do not measure up to these impossible standards we are bedewed with the tears of those who weep upon our breasts and tell us of the cruelty that their wives and husbands inflict upon them.

You never hear a man say that, while Sally is not much to look at and does not know whether Einstein is canned goods or a new drink, she is a crackerjack cook and he would never be where he is if she had not pinched the pennies in their early days. Nor do you ever hear a husband say that while Mary is probably the worst housekeeper in the world and thinks that money was made to throw at the birds, that she is so dear and sweet and pleasant and entertaining that she makes life a joy and a delight for all about her.

Nor do you ever hear a wife say that, while Tom is short on sentiment, he is long on being a good provider and that you can take a lot for granted if he's [illegible] with cars and trips to Europe. Nor do you ever hear a wife say that, while Percy has not the gift of money-making, he gives her a love and tenderness that keep her heart warmer than any sables would.

No. Men want wives who are the good cooks and the savers and the fashion-plates. And women want husbands who make love with one hand and money with the other. And when they do not get everything tied up in their marriage certificates they accuse their mates of cruelty and inhuman punishment.

In one recent divorce case the wife's complaint was that he did not speak her language. She was all soul and he was all business. She had grand opera tastes and he had low jazz yens. And the martyrdom of life with one not on her plane was not to be endured.

Thousands of other marriages go on the rocks because of incompatibility of temper, yet these very same people who cannot live with a husband or wife who does not think just as they think and is not interested in the same things that they are interested in do not expect their friends to be rubber stamps of themselves, or dream of throwing up a good job because their bosses have ways they do not like.

Why is uncongeniality a crime only when practiced by a husband or wife? Nobody knows. It is just part of the mystery of marriage.

Uncle Wiggily's Christmas

By HOWARD R. GARIS

It was the day before Christmas in Woodland, where Uncle Wiggily lived. Oh, such joy and happiness as there was in his hollow stump bungalow and in the homes of all the other animal girls and boys!

"Christmas is coming! Christmas is coming!" sang Baby Bunty.

"I can hardly wait until to-morrow," said Jingle.

"I wonder what we'll get in our stockings or on the Christmas tree?" said Buster, a boy rabbit. For the little bunny children were to hang up their stockings as well as have a tree. Uncle Wiggily had said so.

"It will not be long before you get your presents," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy. "Hop out, now, and play."

With merry shouts and laughter the animal children played about in the snow. When the wind blew they thought they could hear the sound of bells on the reindeer of Santa Claus, who was on his way from the North Pole with his bag of presents.

"Are you going to look for an adventure, Mr. Longears?" asked Nurse Jane as Uncle Wiggily started to hop out of his bungalow.

"I thought I might," he said. "I'll look for a Christmas adventure."

GIFTS FOR BAD CHAPS

"Better take these with you," said the muskrat lady housekeeper, handing Uncle Wiggily three bundles wrapped in paper. "Put them in a basket and take them with you," she said.

"What are they?" he asked.

"Christmas presents for the Bad Chaps if they should chase you," answered Nurse Jane. "There is a bottle of milk for the Bob Cat. Only it's sour milk and it will so pucker his mouth that he cannot bite you. For the Fox there is an old feather duster. He will think it is a chicken and when he bites it, his teeth will stick in the handle."

"What's for the Wolf?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Some meat balls full of pins and needles," said Nurse Jane with a laugh. "These Christmas presents will fool the Bad Chaps if they come after you and you can get away."

"Yes, I guess I can," said Uncle Wiggily.

"So, don't forget," advised Nurse Jane as Uncle Wiggily hopped away. "The sour milk for the Bob Cat, the feather duster for the Fox and the meat balls of pins and needles for the Wolf."

"I'll remember," said Uncle Wiggily as he hopped away with the basket of April Fool Christmas presents for the Bad Chaps. The bunny gentleman hopped over the fields and through the woods. All over woodland he saw the Christmas holly. He heard the jingle of Christmas bells. He saw how happy were the faces of his animal friends. Uncle Wiggily hopped into a Christmas store and out again.

He looked for an adventure but found none. It was getting dark. It would soon be Christmas Eve. As Uncle Wiggily hopped through the woods the Bob Cat chased him.

REWARDED FOR PRESENTS

"Here's a present for you, Bobbie!" said the rabbit, tossing one from the basket. The Bob Cat stopped to open it and as he drank the milk he mewed: "That's good! I love milk. I won't chase you this Christmas, Uncle Wiggily." Then along came the Fox and the Wolf. Uncle Wiggily threw them packages from his basket.

"Christmas presents for you!" said the rabbit.

"A chicken! How good!" barked the Fox. "Meat balls! How good!" howled the Wolf. Then the two Bad Chaps ate what Uncle Wiggily gave them for Christmas. But in the store he had changed the sour milk for sweet, the old feather duster for some chicken sandwiches and the pins and needles meat balls for good ones. "I couldn't fool even the Bad Chaps on Christmas," the bunny told Nurse Jane when he got safely home, for he wasn't chased by them and everybody was happy. Then night came. In the morning Santa Claus had been at every house in Woodland. "Merry Christmas to everybody!" And if the fire shovel doesn't throw snowballs at the face of the clock I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Buster's boat.

SEVENTEEN DIE WHEN FREIGHTER SINKS IN ATLANTIC GALE

Plunging beneath the waves after a mighty struggle with hurricane-lashed seas, the British freighter Usworth is vividly pictured above as she was about to sink in midatlantic. Seventeen men died just as their rescue seemed certain. The Jean Jadot, Belgian ship, and the British liner Ascania, standing by after the distress calls, rescued eleven of the Usworth's crew. After several futile efforts, the Jadot's lifeboat took off fifteen of the freighter's men, but the boat capsized, hurling the fifteen and two of the Jadot's crew into the water, where all died, most of them choked by the heavy oil which had been dumped to still the waves. This dramatic picture was snapped from the deck of the Ascania and rushed from Halifax to New York by plane.

ROTARIAN OF JAPAN HERE

T. Miyaoka Arrives By Ss. President Grant En Route to Chicago

"This is my second trip to North America in six months, and I must make a third before June," stated Tsunejiro Miyaoka, prominent lawyer of Tokio and a director of Rotary International, who reached Victoria this morning from the Orient by the Ss. President Grant. He is on his way to attend a meeting of the Rotary Boards of Directors.

"Until last June, it had been ten years since my last trip to America," Mr. Miyaoka said. "Before that time I was this side of the Pacific ten or twelve times. I first came to Victoria on one of the old Empresses many years ago."

About business and political conditions in Japan, Mr. Miyaoka said he preferred to say very little. He was quite convinced, he said, that no one country would recover without the rest of the world. There was no possibility of war between Japan and the United States, he said.

GOING TO MEXICO

Mr. Miyaoka will sail from San Francisco late next month by the Ss. President Coolidge, and will go direct to Manila to attend the Pacific Regional Conference of Rotary. He will return to Tokio for a few months and will sail again in May to attend a meeting in Chicago, and from there will go to the annual convention of Rotary International in Mexico City.

P. B. Scurrah, governor of Rotary District No. 1, visited Mr. Miyaoka aboard the President Grant this morning. In Seattle on Wednesday, Mr. Miyaoka will address the Rotary Club. He was invited to speak here, but had to decline because of other engagements.

DIPLOMATIC CAREER

Born in Osaka in 1866, Mr. Miyaoka has had a distinguished career in diplomatic service abroad and at law in Tokio. He was graduated from the law department of the Imperial University in Tokio and entered the Japanese Legation in Washington, D.C. Two years later he was sent to Berlin as first secretary of the legation there. Before returning to Japan in 1900, he served for a time in Belgium. He represented Japan before the International Arbitral Tribunal of The Hague in 1904, and two years later returned to Washington as counsellar of the Japanese Embassy. He was the senior Japanese delegate to the International Opium Conference in Shanghai in 1909. Late that year he resigned government service and established himself in general practice of law in Tokio.

Mr. Miyaoka was invited by the American Bar Association to be its guest and chief speaker at Cleveland in 1918, and a similar invitation was given him from the Canadian Bar Association of Montreal the same year. In 1924 he visited London and Paris as guest of the Bar of England and the Bar of Paris.

LINER MADE SHORT CALL

New York, Dec. 24.—The big Canadian liner Empress of Britain held a record yesterday for a ship of her size. She steamed into port before daybreak Saturday and sailed away three hours and fifty-four minutes later on a Christmas cruise.

In that time, 240 passengers from Europe got off with all of their baggage, 6,075 bags of holiday mail and $1,000,800 in gold were discharged; 250 new passengers with their baggage got on, and provisions and fuel were taken aboard.

The ship was a day late from Europe because of gales.

CHRISTMAS COLD WAVE ON PRAIRIES

Canadian Press

Calgary, Dec. 24.—Pushed down by a howling wind from the Arctic wastes which at times reached a velocity of thirty miles an hour, the mercury traveled a toboggan slide route in the Calgary district during the week-end.

The lowest temperature was reached early this morning when the mercury dropped to 20 below zero, and it held there for some time. Sunday morning it was a mere 6 below but it skidded to 14 by evening.

Snow flurries added a realistic touch to the winter scene Sunday, adding to southern Alberta's white covering which came down to break a six weeks' spell of summer-like weather Friday night.

Beniawers Due Here Shortly

Limping back to Victoria, with much of her superstructure missing, her mast gone, and with a bad list, the British freighter Beniawers was 595 miles away from Victoria yesterday evening at 8 o'clock, according to a report picked up at the Gonzales wireless station.

The Beniawers was nearing Dutch Harbor, on her way to the Orient when a terrific Pacific storm disabled her. She was turned about and headed back to Victoria for survey and repairs. It is expected she will arrive here late Christmas night or early Wednesday morning.

Meanwhile the disabled freighter Cape Ortegal is receiving repairs at the Ogden Point piers. She arrived here last week with a bad list. Yarrow's Limited is effecting repairs to the ship's injured ballast tanks. She will proceed to sea in a few days.

SAFE BLOWERS ARE FRUSTRATED

Nanaimo, Dec. 24.—An attempt was made to blow the Nanaimo Creamery Association safe last night. Two holes were blown in the safe but the thieves failed to get $12 inside. Police believe it the work of amateurs who were disturbed. A pick and work hammer, stolen from the city tool box was found near the attempted robbery.

VESSEL MADE GOOD PASSAGE

Ss. President Grant Arrived This Morning, Full Day Ahead of Schedule

In order to make Seattle on Christmas Eve, the American Mail liner President Grant steamed across the North Pacific at an average of twenty knots and reached Victoria this morning at 7 o'clock from ports in the Philippine Islands, China and Japan. She proceeded to Seattle three hours later.

Capt. H. B. Clark, U.S.N.R., master of the ship, said unusually fine weather for this time of the year enabled his ship to make good time. Docking at Victoria this morning in the teeth of a stiff gale, was rather difficult and the ship lay off the Rithet piers an hour before she was finally swung around on the outside of Pier 1.

For Victoria the President Grant had 150 tons of general cargo, mails for Canadian distribution and several Oriental steerage passengers.

NAVAL OFFICERS

A party of United States naval officers, accompanied by their wives and families, were aboard the President Grant, returning from duty with the Asiatic fleet in Orient waters. In this group were: Lieut. J. P. B. Barrett, Mrs. Barrett and Master Paul Barrett; Lieut. C. S. Beightler and Mrs. Beightler, Lieut. and Mrs. John L. Brown, Lieut. E. G. Conley, Ensign M. H. Cox and Lieut. J. G. Urquhart.

Miss Ip Mui of Hongkong left the President Grant here and proceeded to Vancouver, where she will visit with friends for six months.

Others aboard the liner were: George Grandy, connected with the Ford Company in Tokio and Yokohama, en route to Detroit; L. F. Roundel, a prominent tea planter from Ceylon, en route to Los Angeles with his family; Louis Detkin of New York city, returning from buying trip to the Orient; Mrs. Ida Gordon of New York and Manila; Mrs. Lois Hancock and Miss E. Miller of Louisville, on a world voyage; Mrs. R. Lunkley of Shanghai, and Mrs. A. McFayden, a missionary from China.
